Seeks Radical Changes In Real Estate Act

LICENSES FOR ASSISTANTS URGED IN MEASURE

Sub-Division Employees To Be Under Supervision If Bill Passes

BULLETIN
SACRAMENTO, March 16.—Amendments to the state real estate act introduced by Senator Arthur H. Breed will force "cappers" for real estate firms to obtain salesmen's licenses, it was announced today, following a conference.

Hotel clerks, bus operators and "body stretchers," as some of the sub-dividers' employees are called, will be brought under the license regulations of the state real estate department.

CHARGE THREATS MADE TO BANKER

G. C. Marshall Alleged to Have Sent Death Notes To Marco Hellman

BULLETIN
LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Grover Cleveland Marshall, attorney, charged with writing two threatening notes, each demanding money under promise of death, Grover Cleveland Marshall was held by police today for an alleged attempt upon the life of Marco Hellman, prominent Los Angeles banker, it was announced by the police.

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Charged with writing two threatening notes, each demanding money under promise of death, Grover Cleveland Marshall was held by police today for an alleged attempt upon the life of Marco Hellman, prominent Los Angeles banker, it was announced by the police.

"I want $500. I must have it and will kill you unless you send it to the under-singer."

"HARRY GUEDO," 3914 Walton avenue.

Mr. Hellman turned the note over to the police who watched the Walton avenue address without avail. Then on March 6 a second threatening note was received which read:

"I have changed my mind and want $5000. If I don't get it we both will die."

Italians Feel Quake In Region of Florence

ROME, March 16.—An earthquake was felt today in the region of Florence. Some damage to property was reported but no lives were known to be lost.

CAMP BURIED

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 16.—Walter Camp, father of college football, was laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery this afternoon in the presence of his family and a few close friends.

101-Year-Old Woman Phones On Birthday

Mrs. Nanita Maria Antonia Verdugo, Los Angeles pioneer, celebrated her one hundred and first birthday by holding a fiesta at the home of her daughter in Montrose and by using the telephone for the first time, according to friends today.

Mrs. Verdugo was born in 1824, it was stated. Sixty members of Mrs. Verdugo's family attended the fiesta.

Battleships Assembly In L. A. Harbor

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—The greatest force of first-line battleships ever assembled in the Pacific ocean anchored in the Los Angeles harbor this afternoon with the arrival from San Diego of ten dreadnaughts, six light cruisers with a large number of training ships, mine sweepers and smaller craft.

SHEPHERD'S FATE HANGS IN BALANCE

McClintock's Foster-Father Waits State's Action Death Charges

BULLETIN
CHICAGO, March 16.—An offer of $20,000 for his silence was made by William D. Shepherd to Dr. C. C. Faiman, the key witness in the William Nelson McClintock death quiz, he told members of the state's attorney's office this afternoon at the Briggs house where he is being held in custody along with the man he accuses.

CHICAGO, March 16.—The state's promise to William D. Shepherd—indictment for murder or freedom—was ready for fulfillment here today.

A score of witnesses, marshaled in another long night of investigation and grilling, were prepared to go before a grand jury and translate the many ugly rumors and insinuations which have grown out of the death of William Nelson McClintock, Shepherd's foster-son, into concrete facts and evidence, to support the seven points of circumstantial evidence on which State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe has demanded that Shepherd be held for criminal trial.

They were prepared to state, according to the state's attorney's office, how Billy McClintock had made Shepherd the chief heir to the McClintock fortune; how Shepherd saw that fortune slipping away from him as a deathbed marriage of his last blood heir and Miss Isabelle Hope was being arranged; how Shepherd prevented that marriage by false statements to McClintock's fiancée regarding the regulations for securing a marriage certificate; how Shepherd had engaged in secret study of bacteriology; how Shepherd had access to typhoid germs; how such germs were stolen from a place that Shepherd frequented and how, after McClintock had died of typhoid fever, Shepherd used his newly-acquired wealth in an effort to destroy evidence of his bacteriological research.

Coolidge Reported Willing To Make National Issue Out of Warren Controversy

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Having used a cabinet position as a political "football," his spokesmen said he was determined on a finish fight. This reported attitude was privately discounted in some administration sources, where it was indicated the president was merely making a formal fight to save Warren from rejection. It was intimated that while Warren will be offered a recess appointment, it again rejected he will immediately decline the post and a new man named to the vacant cabinet seat.

Another theory was that Warren would accept the attorney-generalship but would be transferred to some other cabinet post before the Senate meets again.

In this connection the name of John C. Sargent, former attorney-general of Vermont and a close friend of the president, was most prominently mentioned. Other names under consideration were said to be Silas Strawn, the Chicago attorney; Senator Guy T. Goff of West Virginia; Assistant Attorney-General William J. Donovan; Solicitor-General James M. Beck and Chief Justice Arthur P. Rugg of the Massachusetts state supreme court.

The president's threat to give Warren a recess appointment projected a new issue of constitutional powers into the clash between the executive and the Senate.

The Warren opposition openly charged the president with attempting to override the Senate's constitutional authority to advise and consent of cabinet appointments and grimly announced the Warren appointment would be rejected as many times as the executive named him to head the department of justice.

The president sent word to administration leaders of the Senate that he had in no wise retreated from the position he took Saturday night when he defied the Senate to prevent Warren's entering the cabinet. The president was reported as willing to make a national issue out of the controversy since he felt the Senate

LEGISLATURE WILL SPEED UP WORK

Colorado River Project, Gas Tax Bill on Calendar For This Week

BULLETIN
SACRAMENTO, March 16.—The Bay Shore highway is to be given a right-of-way in the new highway construction program, and classed as a primary road, according to Senator A. H. Breed, author of various highway measures now before the Legislature.

The move to have this highway given a primary classification crystallized today when T. P. Andrews of the San Francisco Downtown association conferred with Senator Breed and received the latter's consent to amend Senate bills 605 and 606 which establish the highway classifications.

These bills will come up for committee consideration at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The inclusion of the shore road in the primary system has been asked for by San Francisco supervisors and other organizations, and will win many votes for the Breed gasoline tax and motor vehicle tax measure.

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—Preparing to speed up work and grapple with the large issues, which have thus far received scant attention, the Legislature entered its seventh week today with a calendar calling for consideration of four of the major problems confronting it.

Committee conferences are scheduled for late today on two matters of prime importance—ratification of the Colorado river compact and the Hartman constitutional amendment to tax publicly-owned utilities. Later in the week reapportionment is slated to bob up again in slightly disguised form.

Consideration of the highway financing program—probably the biggest issue before the lawmakers—is scheduled to start the middle of the week with a public hearing on the proposed increase in the state gasoline tax.

Fight On Pact

The battle to determine whether the federal relations committee of the Assembly will report out the Finney resolution for ratification of the Colorado river pact with reservations, or the Herbert Hoover plan calling for immediate ratification of the six-state pact, will be waged behind closed doors this afternoon, according to Tom H. Louttit, chairman of the committee.

Assemblyman Finney's resolution would ratify the pact with the proviso that ratification would not become effective until the governor had secured the necessary approval of the state's ratification.

Stillness of Night Is Broken by Clanging of Doors of State Prison

By DOROTHY LEE WELLER
Wife of Assemblyman Frank C. Weller of Glendale
Special to The Glendale Evening News

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—Unsatisfied with seeing prison life at Folsom two weeks ago, Speaker Frank Merriam of Long Beach, Mrs. Merriam, Senator A. Burlingame Johnson and Mrs. Johnson of Pasadena, Assemblyman Badham and Mrs. Badham, Mr. Weller and I spent Saturday night and Sunday at San Quentin prison as guests of Warden Frank Smith.

Shortly before 9 o'clock Saturday night we arrived at the prison gates and were admitted. Once more we experienced being "prisoners" when the outer gates of the large institution clanged behind us.

We were just in time to see the inmates of the prison being locked in their cells for the night. The stillness of the balmy California night, serene and calm, was suddenly broken as the huge steel barred doors were swung shut, the sound of steel against steel pierced the quietness of the corridors as the bolts were shot into place, inmates calling their "good night" to buddies and pals in other cells, and the guards calling from post to post, "Nine o'clock and all is well." It was an unusual feeling that will never be forgotten.

Sunday morning we visited the women's ward and talked with many inmates. "The Tiger woman," as Clara Phillips was known, is proving to be the best informed prisoner. She told me she had her blue days, but was trying to make the best of her life sentence.

Courses of instruction and other reforms are being urged by Mrs. Louise Peete. All the women inmates are anxious about a passage of Senator Charles Lyons' bill permitting the prison board to set the terms of manslaughter after five years.

During the tour of the prison we saw many men prisoners, whose names are familiar to readers of The Glendale Evening News, including "Tuffy" Reid and Isaac Wolfgang, awaiting death.

The memory of our second visit to San Quentin, like the recollections of the first trip two weeks ago, never can be erased.

World Record For Bowling Doubles Set

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 16.—A new world's record for the doubles bowling was set here today at the American Bowling congress when Paul Scribner and Paul Mills of Detroit rolled 525 pins in one game and took place in the doubles with a total of 1288.

BANK RECORDS IN OIL CASE BARRED

Evidence To Show Liberty Bonds Given Fall Is Excluded By Judge

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 16.—The government's case against Harry F. Sinclair's Mammoth Oil Co., suffered a setback today when Judge T. Blake Kennedy in federal court here sustained the defense objection to introduction of bank records from El Paso, Pueblo and Denver as evidence to connect Harry F. Sinclair with the receipt by former Secretary of the Interior A. B. Fall, of $230,500 in Liberty bonds in connection with the leasing by Sinclair of the famous Teapot dome naval reserve.

The court read a lengthy opinion in which it held that the bank records' evidence must be excluded as incompetent because it involved third party hearsay evidence.

Fall in Cheyenne

Owen J. Robert, government special oil counsel, immediately announced that they desired to file formal exception to the ruling.

Today's court session opened with the spectators' gallery filled to capacity. Harry F. Sinclair was on hand to hear the ruling that dealt the government a temporary blow. Albert B. Fall, who arrived last night and is expected to take the stand later in the day, was not in court during the morning session.

Henry L. Phillips, president of the Sinclair Purchasing Co., was called to the stand to identify contracts between his company and the Continental Trading Co. Phillips' testimony brought out the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana owned a half interest in the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co.

ACID THROWER TO APPEAR IN COURT

Mrs. Bernice Day to Face Charge Of Attacking Her Husband

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Mrs. Bernice L. Day was scheduled to appear before Judge Kavanaugh of Beverly Hills this afternoon for a preliminary hearing on a charge of attacking her youthful husband, Darby Day, Jr., of Chicago with acid. It is expected that the district attorney's office would ask a postponement of the hearing until tomorrow so that it may be presented to the grand jury.

It was reported today that Day, Jr., would lose the sight of one eye as a result of the acid attack which took place on the night of February 23 last. Mrs. Day, Jr., and her sister, Miss Carolyn Lundstrom, are at liberty under bail. Miss Lundstrom is charged with aiding her sister in the alleged attack.

RETIRE MINER IS KILLED IN CRASH

Two Drivers Held Charged Also With Driving While Drunk

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—Two men are under arrest here today on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated and which resulted in the death of J. C. Elder, retired mining man, and probably fatal injuries to John Strumen, 21.

W. T. Cox was held in connection with Elder's death and J. I. Pennington was arrested after striking the Strumen youth.

Los Angeles In Favor of Beverly Site

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—The City Council in an appeal to the board of regents of the University of California today asked that the new site of the southern branch be located on the so-called Beverly Hills site.

NOTED FIGURE IS LOCATED IN STATE

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—The mystery hidden trail of Dr. Armand Karl Graves, whose exploits as an international spy brought him world-wide fame and whose recent disappearance from New York city caused friends to start private detectives searching for him, was uncovered in Los Angeles today when it was discovered that Graves had been living here under the name of "Peter Grimm."

Graves' adventures here, it was learned, included an attempt to interest local business men in a scheme to bring $1,500,000 worth of war loot, which he claimed was salvaged from the German raider "Emden," to this country; efforts to bring Theda Bara, screen vampire, back to pictures, and an affair with a Los Angeles girl, who is said to have been known for several weeks as his wife.

HONORED SOLDIER CALLED BY DEATH

Sergeant Sam Dreben, Cited For Bravery, Dies In L. A. Hospital

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Sergeant Sam Dreben, 47, soldier of fortune, a war hero of international fame and termed by General J. J. Pershing as "the best soldier and one of the bravest men I ever knew," is dead. His end came at the Good Samaritan hospital yesterday, it was revealed today, and his funeral will take place this afternoon.

Death to Dreben, also known as "the fighting Jew," came without notice, although he had been ill for some months. It was while taking treatment Saturday that he collapsed in a doctor's office and was rushed to the hospital. He never regained consciousness.

Throughout his life Dreben led a colorful existence as a soldier, sometimes fighting as an American and at other times with some other allied nation. During the World War he earned the American distinguished service cross, as well as medals from other countries including France and Italy.

Evening News First to Get Warren Vote

Hours before a vote was taken in the United States Senate today on the nomination of Charles B. Warren for attorney-general, the International News Service leased wire from Washington to The Glendale Evening News carried the information that a check-up of senators showed that Warren would be defeated for the second time by a vote of 44 to 39. The vote, coming hours later, proved this information correct.

Dispatches to The Glendale Evening News stated that the biggest crowd within memory swarmed over the capitol today and into the Senate galleries to listen to the closing debate over the Warren nomination.

An hour before the Senate convened the Senate lobbies became so jammed that it was necessary to call out police reserves to preserve order and the elevators were stopped to prevent any more persons from getting near the Senate galleries.

Expectation that there would be another fight in the Senate similar to that on Saturday is said to have caused the rush for seats.

KEARNS WAITS ON DEMPSEY OFFER

NEW YORK, March 16.—With Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, in New York, it is expected today that numerous offers would be made for a bout featuring the champion, to be held in the late summer at an open arena in this vicinity.

Charley Henderson, promoter of a Long Island stadium, conferred with Kearns but Kearns said no definite proposition was made to him. Jimmy De Forest, newly appointed matchmaker of the Polo grounds A. C., was to meet with Kearns and elaborate on his offer of the "Greatest Sam Dempsey ever received for a bout." Tex Rickard also is expected to make an offer for Dempsey's services.

SECOND TIME PRESIDENT'S APPOINTEE DEFEATED

Coalition Of Democrats, Independent Republicans Win By 44 to 39

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, March 26.—President Coolidge still stands by his announced intention to offer Charles H. Warren a recess appointment as attorney-general. A White House spokesman made this statement late this afternoon in face of the Senate's action in rejecting Warren for the second time.

At the same time Warren, at the White House declared that he had not yet determined whether he would accept a recess appointment. He will confer further with President Coolidge tonight before making any decision, he declared.

WASHINGTON, March 16.

—President Coolidge still stands by his announced intention to offer Charles H. Warren a recess appointment as attorney-general. A White House spokesman made this statement late this afternoon in face of the Senate's action in rejecting Warren for the second time.

At the same time Warren, at the White House declared that he had not yet determined whether he would accept a recess appointment. He will confer further with President Coolidge tonight before making any decision, he declared.

WASHINGTON, March 16.

—The nomination of Charles B. Warren of Michigan as attorney-general was again rejected this afternoon by the United States Senate. The vote was 44 to 39.

Climaxing a fight between the president and the Senate that is without parallel in history, Warren's name was sent back to the White House for the second time, under conditions which make it incumbent upon President Coolidge either to name another man or carry out his threat to offer the Michigan attorney a recess appointment.

The same coalition of Democrats and independent Republicans disavowing partisanship accomplished Warren's defeat this afternoon as they had also caused his initial rejection a week ago.

The Democrats voted against Warren to a man and they were joined by the following independent Republicans: Borah of Idaho, Brookhart of Iowa, Couzens of Michigan, Frazer of North Dakota, Howell of Nebraska, Johnson of California, Ladd of North Dakota, La Follette of Wisconsin, Norbeck of South Dakota, Norris of Nebraska.

The record vote follows:

Democrats: Ashurst, Arizona; Bayard, Delaware; Blease, South Carolina; Bratton, New Mexico; Broussard, Louisiana; Bruce, Maryland; Caraway, Arkansas; Copeland, New York; Dill, Washington; Edwards, New Jersey; Ferris, Michigan; Fletcher, Florida; George, Georgia; Garry, Rhode Island; Glass, Virginia; Harris, Georgia; Harrison, Miss.

LATEST NEWS

McCLINTOCK'S SWEETHEART MISSING
LOS ANGELES, March 16.—The whereabouts of Isabelle Pope, sweetheart of William N. McClintock, whose mystery death as the result of typhoid fever has led to the apprehension of William D. Shepherd in Chicago, became a mystery today when friends with whom the young woman had been staying here stated she was not with them and they did not know where she could be located. It was reported, though not confirmed, that she might be en route to Chicago to lend what aid she could to the new investigation of the case.

DESPOUND WIDOWER SUICIDE
LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Believed to have been suffering from despondency, C. F. Miller, 70, retired business man, ended his life today by shooting himself through the head over the grave of his wife, Mrs. Carrie Miller, in Evergreen cemetery, according to the police. Mrs. Miller died in 1922.

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 16.—The state supreme court today upheld the alien land laws of Washington in affirming the findings of the King county court in the case of lands owned by the White River Gardens, Inc., 1997 shares of which were held by S. Katsuno and wife, ostensibly for their infant daughter.

BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED BY PARTY

First Anniversary Held at Oakmont Country Club Saturday Night

The "first birthday party" of the Oakmont Country club, held Saturday night at the clubhouse, was easily the gayest, most brilliant affair of its kind ever seen in Glendale. An elaborate dinner that ran the gamut from grilled baby lobster and boneless squab chicken to pistachio ice cream and cake with individual candles, not omitting crisp Waldorf salad and frozen grape punch at appropriate interludes, was accompanied by twenty-seven variety numbers, under the intriguing title of "Blanche Skeath's Frivolities," arranged and directed by Mrs. Harold Skeath, chairman of the entertainment committee.

This part of the program consumed three hours. The ballroom was then cleared of tables and there was dancing with music by Bill Hatch's Oakmont Country club orchestra.

During the dinner program E. U. Emery, president of the club, spoke briefly, outlining the remarkable progress made in the year that the institution has been under way. This, he said, was due largely to the co-operation of the members, who have shown themselves to be all one big family, united in furthering the progress of Glendale and of the Oakmont Country club.

Program Given

J. I. Wernette, secretary-treasurer, said a few words on memberships and C. C. Bowerman, chairman of the finance committee, showed that the club is in a sound financial condition.

The "Frivolities" then took the long stage that had been built at the east end of the ballroom, and a baker's dozen of snappy numbers were unwound: "Hello Dearie," "Miss Elliott and chorus," "Mack Dance," "Miss Karels," "Solo," Mr. Fargo; "Apache Jazz Dance," Miss Leopold; "Rosita," Miss Lux, Miss Clark and chorus; "Crazy Stuff," sleight-of-hand; "Dance," Miss Clark; "When My Sugar Walks Down the Street," Miss Elliott and chorus; "Song of Love," Miss Lux and Mr. Fargo.

Painting Presented

An oil painting, "Mount Baldy," by Parke Vawter of Glendale, was then presented to the Oakmont Country club by August Voelker, as a gift. President Emery introduced Mr. Voelker, who in turn introduced the artist, while the painting was unveiled from the north end of the ballroom.

Numbers fourteen to twenty-seven of the "Frivolities" were then permitted to occupy the stage, in the following order: "Jazz Toe Dance," Miss Laemmle; "More Crazy Stuff," sleight-of-hand; "Dance," Miss Clark; "China Girls," Miss Elliott, Miss Leopold and chorus; "Solo," Miss Lux; "Dance," Miss McIlwain and Miss Christensen; "Sweethearts," Miss Lux and Mr. Fargo; "Javanese Dance," Miss Clark; "Bagdad," Miss Elliott and chorus; "Solo," Miss Lux; "Song," chorus; "Solo," Mr. Fargo; "Hula," Miss Prince; and "Show Me the Way," Miss Elliott and chorus.

Among those present, by parties, were: W. C. Kaune, Dr. J. E. Eckles, T. H. Menk, Marvin Smith, J. A. Endicott, August Voelker, Len C. Davis, R. L. McNitt, W. O. Raiguel, Theodore Belanger, Dr. Fay G. Stone, Harry Hague, J. H. Woods, J. L. Judson, Harry Westfall, G. W. Rich, C. L. Shapley, E. F. Cook, H. B. Stecher, J. B. Tabour, J. F. Mortensen, C. S. Spencer, J. B. Eastman, H. D. Sawtelle, P. J. Duncan, John Bullock, Morse Preman, A. R. Palm, M. Walters, W. Calvin McAuley, L. H. Wilson, L. H. Ledger, H. R. Skeath, Cary Grotton, W. A. Ingoldby, Earl Daniels, P. A. Kelley, R. E. Corrigan, C. L. Smith, W. R. Briggs, Dr. R. C. Logan, R. A. Puffer, Jr., E. U. Emery, R. A. Race, A. H. Montgomery.

REV. FUNK SPEAKS ON LOVE OF GOD

'Vicarious Suffering' Chosen As First Lutheran's Sunday Sermon

"The Vicarious Suffering of Our Saviour in Its Relation to Christian Living" was the subject discussed by Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor of the First Lutheran church yesterday morning. He said:

"I know there are those who deny the doctrine of Vicarious Suffering. But these are they who justify themselves, who vainly imagine they have no need of Him, and who have never tasted of the joy that comes from the spirit of vicarious living. The thought of the text is clearly defined: 'And hath given Himself for us.'"

"A few years ago a singer appeared in Paris whose voice was most remarkable, and she was pronounced the most accurate singer in Europe. For a few weeks the great theatres were filled, but her audiences soon dwindled away to a mere handful, and in a few years she was forgotten. The reason for this unfortunate ending was that she had put no heart into her music. How different it was with the Swedish nightingale, Jenny Lind, who wrote: 'Oh, I hope that God will give me my voice till the orphans' home is finished. And with a heart filled with sympathy for others she thrilled and ravished the hearts of the people."

Fondest Desires

To be loved and remembered are two of the fondest desires of the human heart. Humanly speaking, love and enduring monument are only to be had at a price. The trouble is that we are not willing to pay the price; that of devotion and sacrifice for others. It is true that they may not even appreciate what you have done for them but, never mind; virtue has its own reward.

"It is the good that men do that lives after them. Indeed, the spirit of the text is the secret of all great and lasting influence. Great wisdom and learning all admire; but heroism, deeds of nobility, sacrifice are the things that inspire. The historian and the bard will both vie with each other

AD CAMPAIGN PLAN OF ELECTRIC LINE

Pacific Company to Spend $50,000 With Papers To Reach Public

What promises to be one of the largest advertising campaigns ever carried on by a public utility in California through the medium of the newspapers was announced by D. W. Pontius, vice-president to portray the beauty and the grandeur of that life that was lived for others, or given as a voluntary sacrifice."

and general manager of the Pacific Electric Railway Co.

Commencing next week, the first of a series of advertisements will appear in the daily newspapers of Los Angeles and all cities located on the lines of the company. Subsequent weekly advertisements will appear over a period of approximately six months. The appropriation made to cover this special campaign is in addition to the regular yearly expenditure of the Pacific Electric's newspaper advertising, which amounts to approximately $50,000.

Result Sought

"We hope to show the serving railway facility of any community is an integral link to the welfare and prosperity of the district served," said Mr. Pontius yesterday, "and have selected the newspapers as the most effective medium in which to tell our story." The advertisements will sketch briefly the history and development stages of the company, the service performed, pay roll, taxes, extent and value of properties and other facts incident to the Pacific Electric's service and its contribution to the civic progress and material growth of Southern California. "While the privately-owned and paralleling competition have had a most depressing effect upon our revenue in recent years," said Mr. Pontius, "we are still unshaken in the belief that this district needs our service quite as much as we need its support. Last year we spent more than $10,000,000 in improving and extending our facilities and if future expansion funds are to be forthcoming, increase in our revenues must be made to justify additional outlays."

News want ads bring results.

Glendale Delegates at Eisteddfod Convention

Glendale district was well represented at the seventh district conference of the California Eisteddfod in Santa Barbara on Saturday afternoon and night, nine delegates from Glendale and Burbank making the trip. Following a business session in the afternoon, where district reports were read concerning the contests in art, drama and music to be conducted this spring, the visitors were entertained at dinner, through the courtesy of the Community Arts association. Ben P. Pearson, chairman of the Eisteddfod organization, was toastmaster. The delegates were taken to the Lobero Community theatre for a program, which included solo and group numbers by the Santa Barbara Junior orchestra and by the Community Arts chorus. This was followed by an informal reception on the stage of the theatre. Representatives of the Glendale District Eisteddfod included the following-named: Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Mrs. Roy Bal-lagh and son, R. Ernest Tucker, and J. Arthur Myers, of Glendale; and Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Sparrow, Mrs. Ray Fischer and Mrs. Homer Jones, of Burbank. Several of the delegates remained for a special entertainment on Sunday.

REAL ESTATE

ATLANTA, March 16.—Real estate men handling subdivisions have done extremely well in sale of lots in the last month and a normal amount of subdivision construction is ahead. Highway and paving projects are taking on more activity and farm work is making good progress.

Camera Tells Vivid Story of Features In Glendale's First Great Air Rodeo!

fer, Lieutenant F. H. Conant and Lieutenant E. B. Wilkins. Seated in the cockpit of the big De Havilland craft is Lieutenant T. W. Williams. O. Berryman, aviation mechanic is seated on the wing of the plane. Photo is by Dolberg. Across the top at the right are shown pilots of the 476th aerial pursuit squadron from Clover Field. From left to right, standing, they are Lieutenant B. M. Spencer of Glendale, Lieutenant C. M.

James and Lieutenant F. L. Willets. Kneeling are J. A. McGlynn, chief machinist at Clover Field and P. A. Ward, mechanic. Photo is by Dolberg. Between the army and navy flyers is shown the bridal group that participated in the aerial marriage yesterday afternoon. They are, left to right, Dr. T. C. Young, C. B. Crossan, the groom, Judge Carson Hubbard, and behind the groom, his blushing bride, Miss Violet Thurston. This photo was taken by Dr. G. Kaemmerling. The center view shows the plane of Alf Gilhousen, daring pilot, just after he had crashed it to the ground in an effort to place first in the dead-stick landing contest. Photo also by Dolberg. Below, at the left is Captain Lowell Smith, commander of the world flight, just after he had presented the $100 silver trophy to Earle Daugherty, shown at the right, for winning the dead-stick event. Between the two is shown Dr. Young, general chairman of the air rodeo.

PLENTY OF THRILLS AT FIRST AIR RODEO

Alf Gilhousen, Glendale Aviator, and Passenger Escape In Crash; Silver Trophy Goes to Earle Daugherty

Crashing to earth in a death-defying attempt to come closest to a given mark on the field, Alf Gilhousen, Glendale aviator, horrified and then thrilled 10,000 spectators in the main feature of the two-day Air Rodeo at the Glendale Airport yesterday afternoon.

Gilhousen's ship swooped to the ground, quivered, and then crumbled like an egg-shell, when, in the finals in the dead-stick contest between himself and Earle Daugherty of Long Beach, he made an almost superhuman effort to place his Curtiss plane nearest to a given mark on the field after gliding from an altitude of 3000 feet with a dead motor. Gilhousen and his observer, Cameron Barbee, escaped uninjured.

Wins Silver Trophy
 Other thrills were provided by Daugherty when he brought his plane to earth almost squarely over the designated spot on the field and won the $100 silver trophy offered by the Chamber of Commerce and city of Glendale, the cup for which Gilhousen had already risked his life.

An afternoon filled with stirring events marked the conclusion of the Glendale Air Rodeo, the first of its kind ever staged. The 10,000 persons who witnessed the events from the field formed only a part of the great throng that assembled to witness the unique aviation meet. Along San Fernando road and other side streets for several miles in all directions, thousands of automobiles filled with spectators swelled the crowd to upwards of 20,000 persons, it was estimated.

Army and Navy Aid
 Never before had so many distinguished personages in the flying world been brought together to further the cause of safe and sane aviation, never before had the army and navy shown wholehearted co-operation with civilian aviators, never before was there such a striking demonstration of the safety and utility of air transportation.

Officials of the city, Chamber of Commerce and the Glendale Airport were elated with the overwhelming success of the meet and declared today that other similar meets would be undertaken in the future.

The feature event was the aerial wedding that took place at 3 o'clock, when C. B. Crossan, American pilot in France during the World War, and Miss Violet Thurston, pretty Los Angeles girl, jumped into the cabin ship "Argonaut" and were married at an altitude of 2000 feet over the field. Judge Carson Hubbard of Huntington Park tied the fatal knot while Dr. T. C. Young, pilot of the Argonaut, acted as best man.

Thrilling Features
 Wing walking and hair-raising acrobatic stunts on a rope ladder suspended from an airplane were performed by Frank Hefling,

Young Honors Publisher of Evening News

A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News was singularly honored by Dr. T. C. Young, general chairman of the Glendale Air Rodeo and toastmaster at the aviation banquet held Saturday night. In introducing Glendale representatives who attended the banquet at the Tuesday afternoon clubhouse, Dr. Young said of the publisher of The Evening News:

"No man in Glendale had done more to make the Air Rodeo and the banquet a success than Mr. Cowan and his newspaper has been a worthy instrument in advancing the cause of safe and sane commercial aviation."

while Ernie Davis, Long Beach, thrilled the spectators still further with daring parachute drops from an altitude of 3000 feet, hopping from the wing of a ship traveling at more than 100 miles an hour.

The second day of the air rodeo was officially opened by the Glendale Drum and Bugle corps shortly after 1 o'clock. The opening event on the program, final tryouts in the dead-stick landing contest, was announced by Earl Ovington, veteran flyer and official starter. In this event Earle Daugherty, noted aviator and owner of Daugherty field, Long Beach, showed supremacy when he brought his plane within twenty-three feet three inches of the designated spot on the field after gliding four miles with a dead motor. This mark bettered that made by Alf Gilhousen in the tryouts Saturday, the latter coming within fifty-seven feet ten inches of the goal. When Daugherty and Gilhousen took off for the final competition, tense enthusiasm held the great crowd in its grasp.

Close to Death
 Gilhousen cut his motor first and started for the earth from an altitude of 2500 feet. Slowly he wound his path groundward, as photographers arranged their cameras in the center of the field and spectators crowded forward to get an advantageous view of the landing.

Within a few hundred feet of the ground, Gilhousen's plane was carried slightly off its course by an unexpected change of wind. This did not discourage the daring young pilot. With masterful skill he guided his craft back over the field and "pancaked" the white mark that spelled victory. Cameramen got

Planes Flew 12,000 Miles During Meet

More than fifty airplanes took part in the first Glendale air rodeo held Saturday and Sunday, according to Dr. T. C. Young, general chairman of the meet. These planes flew a total of 12,000 miles during the meet, it was estimated by Dr. Young. More than 300 flights from the Glendale airport were taken during the meet. Over 100 aviators, many of them nationally and internationally known were present. Chambers of Commerce of forty cities of Southern California participated in preliminary plans for the establishment of a Southern California Aeronautical association.

ready to shoot, the great throng was silent as the birdman attempted to make a final turn in the light wind only a few feet from the ground. At a moment when he seemed safe and victory looked certain, the left wing of Gilhousen's ship suddenly dropped the few feet separating it from the ground and fastened itself in the turf. The body of the ship, nose forward, struck the earth with a thud. The silence grew for a moment, then a wild cry went up and 10,000 persons surged on to the field like a great wave.

Only the generalship of Earl Ovington and others directing from the judges' stand brought the crowd to its senses and enabled the field patrol under Fire Chief Lankford to whip it back from the center of the field, where the plane had crashed. Gilhousen and his companion, Cameron Barbee, crawled from the wreckage unhurt, and the demolished ship was quickly removed from the field to allow the landing of Daugherty, who had already cut his motor and was headed downward. Though unmoved by the sight of his wrecked competitor, Daugherty made a perfect landing, his plane stopping almost directly over the white spot for which he had aimed.

Makes Presentation
 Through the applauding crowds Daugherty was led to the judges' stand, where Gilhousen was the first to congratulate him. Following Gilhousen came Capt. Lowell Smith, commander of the world flight, who made the presentation of the silver trophy in the name of the Chamber of Commerce and the city of Glendale. Later in the afternoon Daugherty received another ovation when he and his wife hopped off for home in his bright blue plane that stood out against the white clouds of the sky.

Great credit was given officials of the air meet for the manner in which the big crowd was handled and the events of the meet were staged. Dr. Young, general chairman, declared that the rodeo was a huge success from every standpoint, surpassing even the expectation of himself and his committeemen.

"More than 30,000 people in all were shown that aviation is not half as dangerous as it is supposed to be," Dr. Young said. "That it is as safe or safer than any other kind of transportation was demonstrated. I am sure that all those who witnessed the dead-stick landing realize now that a motor can fail and the ship remain in the air and travel many miles in safety. The crash that occurred when Alf Gilhousen tried to literally set his plane down on the white mark, proved that an airplane can be very badly smashed up and the occupants of

B. M. Emerson Head of St. Helena Sanitarium

B. M. Emerson, secretary-treasurer of the Pacific Union conference of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination, has been elected president of the St. Helena sanitarium to succeed Elder J. L. McElhany, president of the Pacific Union conference.

Elder McElhany returned from St. Helena this morning, with Mr. Emerson, Elder W. F. Martin and Professor W. W. Ruble. They report the St. Helena sanitarium in a flourishing condition. Elder McElhany retired owing to ill health and the pressure of his other duties, it was stated.

Dr. G. K. Abbott was released from his position as medical superintendent of the St. Helena sanitarium, to accept a similar position with the Adventist sanitarium at Washington, D. C. Dr. C. C. Landis, formerly of Glendale, succeeded him.

Elder McElhany will leave for Washington next week to attend the spring council of the General conference, to be held in the nation's capital, April 1 to 7.

Glendale Woman Due Back From Long Visit

Mrs. C. C. Butterfield of 1331 North Pacific avenue, will arrive in Glendale soon from a four months' visit with relatives and friends in Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore. She visited her brother, Frank D. Cooper, superintendent of city schools at Seattle. Mrs. Butterfield now is visiting with friends in Sacramento.

Passenger Is Thrilled On First Flight

"Thrilled beyond words," was the verdict of Mrs. Carrie Hendricks of Denver, Colo., after she had completed a flight Saturday afternoon in one of the Kinner Airsters at the Glendale Airport as part of the air rodeo. The ship was piloted by the designer and maker, W. B. Kinner, and it was Mrs. Hendricks' first flight. "I admit I was a trifle frightened when I stepped into the airplane," Mrs. Hendricks said, "but, after the plane had left the ground and we were soaring over Glendale, the ease and smoothness with which Mr. Kinner handled the ship inspired confidence in me. There is nothing more beautiful than the view of Glendale and the surrounding country when viewed from an airplane soaring along gracefully at an altitude of 2000 feet.

"It was a trip that I will always remember, not only because it was my first flight, but because I found there was more safety flying around, with an efficient pilot like Mr. Kinner, than there is riding in an automobile.

Loans Million To Bankrupt

J. Pierpont Morgan, the elder, when before a Congressional investigating committee, made the statement that he had loaned as high as a million dollars at a time to a man who was a bankrupt. Asked why he did it he said that he regarded the personal qualifications of the man, his capabilities and integrity as the best surety that could be offered.

A man himself is what you put confidence in when you call your doctor, or when you seek your dentist. Of course you want to know he is qualified, but you want to know that there is a personal honor and integrity on top of the qualifications.

Glendale is proud of its doctors and its dentists. No finer type of men are serving the public in any city in any country anywhere. Not one of them but can be trusted, not one of them but is the soul of honor.

They challenge us to throw our very best always into every prescription that is brought to us and we are proud to believe we stand on a par with any. You want to encourage this great qualification by your unfailing patronage.

CHINA'S GREAT MAN

The late Dr. Sun Yat Sen has been called one of Asia's three great moderns, and by some considered the greatest Chinese of his generation. Born the son of a Christianized peasant, he was engaged all his life in bringing western civilization to China. Thirty years ago he was the first graduate of a British medical college in Hong Kong and was the first Chinese to practice medicine in a hospital in China. Very early in life he joined a group of reformers who were discontented with the corrupt rule of the Manchus. Evading capture and death for participating in a plot to seize Canton in 1895, he became a refugee from justice, with a price on his head, hunted as an arch-criminal, a wanderer on the face of the earth. He traveled in Japan, America and England, but every now and then turning up in China to meet with a little band of his sympathizers, only to disappear again. But his organization grew in influence and numbers with the decreasing influence and decay of the Manchu dynasty, and finally the blow was struck and China became a republic, a victory which has no parallel in history.

Sun Yat Sen was made president, but not for long. China became divided and has been engaged in civil war almost constantly since 1913, and Dr. Sun Yat Sen had been at war with this or that province almost all that time.

To this man goes the credit for the establishment of the Chinese republic and he is blamed in a measure, too, for the failure of the republic. He brought Western civilization to China and then opposed foreign influences. He introduced modern surgery into China and it was the surgeon's knife that revealed to him that he must die of incurable cancer.

There is no question of Sun Yat Sen's greatness and ability for leadership, but the world would have thought him a greater man if he had died in 1912, immediately after the republic of China had been established as a result of a lifetime of effort on his part.

SPEEDING UP THE SENATE

The new vice-president offended the dignity of the United States Senate, but won the approval of the people of the country when he condemned the custom of filibustering.

Every senator has the right to acquaint himself with the measure he is to vote upon and he should have the privilege of presenting his views to his colleagues in an effort to change their views, if he can. But, when a majority of the Senate is in favor of a measure that is of import to the nation, it is both childish and criminal to employ methods by which, as the vice-president says, "one senator may exercise a power greater than the veto power of the president of the United States."

Fairness alone should allow the majority to have its way. Senatorial courtesy grants the right to hold the floor as long as possible. If the filibustering senator should speak upon the subject under consideration there could not be so much objection to the method, but when senators take the floor for the purpose of defeating a measure favored by the majority and put in the time reading the Bible, newspapers and popular novels to empty the seats of the Senate chamber, then the procedure becomes ridiculous.

Extra sessions of Congress have been necessary because some filibusterer has kept the floor in the closing hours of the session and prevented the passage of measures of immense importance to the nation. School children employing such tactics would be severely punished.

Senatorial courtesy is fine, but it has been abused by the filibusterer. The country will be glad to see a change in Senate rules that will take such authority away from a minority member and at the same time speed up the work of the Senate.

PRINCE AS SALESMAN

David Kirkwood's characterization of the Prince of Wales as "a clown in a traveling circus," in the House of Commons, brings to mind forcibly the change that has come about in the status of royalty. Not so many hundred years ago it would have taken a courageous mortal to stand up in the parliament of any country and criticize a king or a prince or object to an appropriation of money for his use.

Kirkwood's objection to the appropriation of $75,000 for Wales' South American-African visit was not taken very seriously outside the House of Commons, for, although there is unemployment in England and the people are taxed to the limit of endurance, they regard the young prince in the light of a salesman and an advertiser, making friends for England wherever he goes and encouraging trade. He is an ambassador of good will and his visits everywhere have been of service to British interests.

The British Parliament has the right idea. Acquaintance and understanding among the nations will promote international good-will.

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

President Coolidge has great faith in discussions and conferences between nations to bring about a better international understanding leading to world peace, and it is apparent that he is anticipating great results from a second disarmament conference. His view is that "a country so powerful in numbers and wealth, so fortunate in its location as our own, can and should set an example of moderation in armament, and should invite others to pursue a similar program."

The first disarmament conference dealt with battleships and it is believed that the second will deal with cruisers, submarines and possibly airplanes, leaving the subject of land armaments to a third conference. It is the belief of the president and of Mr. Hughes that the limitation of armaments must be brought about a little at a time, that this is the only way to get the co-operation of European countries. For this reason the president is called a practical pacifist.

There are many difficulties in the way of those who are working for peace through a limitation of armaments, but the press of the country seems agreed that much good will come out of a second conference.

Looks Like the Congregation Has Gone to Sleep Again!

Transformation

By DR. FRANK CRANE

"How do you who?"

This was the salutation given to me by a dignified, elderly gentleman the other day as he looked at me and walked along the street.

People might have thought he was crazy, for he talked in the funniest fashion. He wanted to know "where I was wholing and dot I was wholing to go?" (Where I was going and what I was going to do?)

I satisfied him on this point as we went into a restaurant and had lunch together. He was in town for an engagement at three o'clock and was at my disposal until then.

"People have all forms of vice," he said. "Mine is transformation. Vice is not necessarily wicked; it is what is different."

"All criminals are not bad men. I suppose the Pharisees thought our Saviour was a criminal. He was doing what a great many men have tried to do since without success. He tried to be different."

"Human law is not an effort to make people do right; it is an effort to make people conform. These people get along the best who live about as do others."

"Consequently, for those of us who feel our responsibilities enough to live like others, it is a great pleasure now and then to break loose in some mild way and innocuously have a good time."

For my friend was not crazy, but he was a bishop in a nearby diocese, and really quite a solid and esteemed personage in his community.

It must be hard to be a bishop. No man can retain his sanity and stand on a pedestal all the time. He has to break loose some way, either in the privacy of his own chamber or more luridly abroad.

Every man has to discover a way in which to gratify the instinct for play that abides in him.

I suppose there is no one of us, no matter how old, who does not want to play once in a while and who does not have some form of silliness in which to indulge. If it is harmless, so much the better. He has unstrung his bow and can shoot next time with a stronger chord. In other words, he can go back to his sanity and seriousness and be more sane and serious than ever because for a while he has diverted himself.

Horoscope

Mercury in benefic aspect dominates this day, according to astrology. In the evening, however, Venus is strongly adverse. This should be an auspicious time for pushing all financial matters, particularly those that concern the government.

Bankers are subject to a sway making for the extension of their business scope. The establishment of branches is likely to be most successful. This day's principal sign rules friends who may be able to overcome selfish ends in dealing with both men and women.

All the aspects encourage mental work, and educational matters are especially well directed. Again the stars promise much for advertising, which should be effective while this planetary government prevails. Churches should benefit from the attitude of the public mind, which will awake to the need of religious and ethical influences.

This should be an auspicious date for beginning journeys, but storms may be expected and floods will prevail in many places. In the morning proposals of marriage, if made by letter, should be lucky.

The evening is held as a most unfavorable time for love making and it will be wise to put aside all romance until a better rule of the stars influences dwellers on earth.

Scientists are to profit greatly in the coming year which will bring to perfection many inventions. Motion pictures will benefit. Contracts of every sort, except marriage contracts, are well directed.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the forecast of a moderately active year which should bring average success. Love affairs may be rather troublesome.

Children born on this day probably will be quick and clever, but they may find obstacles in their way. These subjects of Pisces are often too apprehensive to make big chances and so miss great prosperity.

Today's Poem

A DAY WORSE THAN LOST
If you sit down at set of sun
And count the acts that you have done,
And, counting, find
One self-denying deed, one word
That eased the heart of him that heard—
One glance most kind,
That fell like sunshine where it went—
Then you may count that day
Well spent.

But if, through all the livelong day,
You've cheered no heart, by yea or nay—
If, through it all You've nothing done that you can trace
That brought the sunshine to one face—
No act most small
That helped some soul and nothing cost—
Then count that day as worse Than lost.

—George Eliot.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

It is necessary to know history to understand what is going on in the world today.

History at any time recommends itself as the most profitable of all studies; history, which is, as Gibbons put it, little more than the register of the crimes, follies and misfortunes of mankind.

Thomas Carlyle said that history is the old generations write and posthumously transmit to the new. It is the only articulate communication which the Past can have with the Present, the Distant with what is Here.

"All books, therefore, were they but song-books or treatises on mathematics, are in the long run, historical documents—as, indeed, all speech itself is; thus we may say, History is not only the fittest study, but the only study, and includes all others whatsoever."

History, as it lies at the root of all science, is also the first distinct product of man's spiritual nature; his earliest expression of what can be called Thought.

"It is a looking both before and after," says Carlyle; "as, indeed, the coming Time already waits, unseen, yet, definitely shaped, predetermined and inevitable, in the Time come; and only by the combination of both is the meaning of either completed."

Of all mankind there is not one tribe so rude that it has not attempted history, though several have not enough arithmetic to count five.

History has been written with quip-threads, with feather-pictures, with wampum belts; still oftener and more commonly with earth-mounds and monumental stone heaps.

The red man, the brown man, and the black man, as well as the whites, lives between two eternities, and warring with oblivion, he endeavors to unite himself in clear conscious as in dim unconscious relation he is already united, with the whole Past and the whole Future.

Septic and theologian, sentimental and utilitarian, all with one voice advise us: Read history, for it is "Philosophy teaching by experience."

Who's Who

An American will supervise the world agricultural census undertaken by the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome. He is Leon M. Estabrook of the U. S. department of agriculture.

Leon Moyer Estabrook, statistician, was born in Rockford, Ill., March 24, 1869. He was graduated from the North Texas Business College in 1890, and later was a student of the Berlitz School of Languages and Commercial Scientific School (George Washington University), Washington, D. C. He took his LL.B. degree at the Georgetown Law School in 1897.

On June 10, 1901, Estabrook was married to Miss Nellie Louise Melling, of Washington. He has been in turn farmer, teacher and stenographer. From 1895 to 1903 he was a clerk in the war department, and for the next two years was stenographer in the bureau of plant industry in the department of agriculture. In 1905 he organized the central accounting office in this department and was put in charge of the records. Then he became assistant in charge of seed distribution, chief clerk of the department of agriculture; statistician and chief of the bureau of crop estimates, and has been associate chief of bureau of markets and crop estimates since 1921.

In November of 1920 Estabrook was sent as a delegate to the general assembly of International Institutes of Agriculture, and in 1923 he organized the agricultural department of Argentina. He is a member of the American Statistical Association, American Academy of Political and Social Science, American Association of Government Accountants, American Economic Association, and the American Genetic Association. His home is in Washington, D. C.

WRONG GUESS

"What does this mean, sir?" said the boss to his clerk, coming in thirty minutes late.

"It was on account of the awful fog," explained the culprit.

"Fog? Fog?" said the boss, testily. "What has the fog to do with it? You do not live across the bay."

"No, sir. I know I don't, but you do, and I thought you'd be late."—Forbes Magazine.

PIG-HEADED OR SOFT-HEARTED?
"He says he will be miserable unless I marry him," said the pensive girl.

"You must decide for yourself," answered Miss Cayenne, "whether he is a devoted lover or merely one of those people who can't be happy unless they are having their own way."—Washington Star.

COLLEGE CLUB PLANTS TREE THURSDAY

Patterson Park Is Selected By Members for Initial Step In Work

Planting of a tree at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning in Patterson park by Glendale College Women's club, will be the initial step of the club to preserve trees now growing in Glendale, and to foster a movement for the planting of new trees. The tree planting was announced at the club meeting Saturday at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse by Mrs. A. A. Barton, a member of the civics committee.

Thursday will be a full day for the club members. In addition to the tree planting, the club is sponsoring the Girls' league assembly at 11 o'clock at Broadway High school, where Dr. Irene J. Myers, dean of Occidental college, and a member of the College Women's club, will speak on "College Education and Life." Mrs. Frank C. Ayars, chairman of college interest among girls, arranged the talk.

Thursday night the club members and friends are to attend the Robinson performance at the club theatre, a portion of the door receipts to go to the club's scholarship fund. Mrs. S. L. Gillan, chairman of this affair. Tickets for the play can be secured from Mrs. A. A. Barton at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, at the Glendale Paint & Paper store, or from any club member.

Entertain Girls
Mrs. Frank W. Parr, club president, presided over the meeting Saturday. Miss Mildred Hughey led in community singing. Mrs. Eula Mitchell reviewed the recent convention in Washington on the subject "Cause and Cure of War." By vote the April meeting was set for the third Saturday in April when the Senior High school girls will be entertained. Announcement was made of the national convention of the American Association of University Women, April 8 to 11 in Indianapolis, Ind. The club voted in favor of the Duell bill, now before the California Legislature, for the appointment instead of election of the superintendent of public instruction. Piano numbers of Mrs. H. S. Schroeder were "The Butterfly" and "To Spring" by Grieg.

Dr. Gilliland of the University of Southern California, was the speaker of the afternoon. His subject was "Present Day Conditions in Europe." In developing his theme he dealt with lesser nations and states now going through a period of adjustment. He spoke of their political and geographical problems. He cited Italy under the dictatorship of Mussolini; poverty stricken Vienna; Turkey, which he said held the most strategic place in all the world, but owing to the Turks' lack of business ability and dislike for agricultural pursuits, its opportunity is not made the most of; and the Zionist movement in Palestine. He illustrated his talk with maps.

Municipal League To Be Organized Tonight

Permanent organization of the Glendale Municipal league will be effected tonight at an open meeting at the City Hall. It is announced by H. V. Adams, chairman of the temporary organization committee. The meeting is scheduled to open at 8 o'clock, and every taxpayer and legal voter of the city is invited to attend.

The league purposes: "To reduce taxes, keep the public bonded debt within bounds, stop wasteful and unnecessary expenditure of public funds and assist in finding capable men for public service," as stated by Mr. Adams, who adds:

"What the Non-partisan association of Los Angeles is doing for the general good of that city, what the Taxpayers' league of Minneapolis is doing for that city and what similar organizations are doing for other cities, so the Glendale Municipal league is to do for Glendale."

An airplane line between Calcutta and Rangoon, India, is under consideration.

APPEAL FAILS IN BLACKMAIL CASE

Higher Court Will Rule Only On Costs In Fight to Regain $650,000

LONDON, March 16.—Charles Robinson's suit against the Midlands bank in an effort to collect $650,000 of the money extracted from Sir Hari Singh in the famous "Mr. A." blackmail case, will fail in the court of appeals, the latter court announced today. Only the question of the costs of the first suit will be considered, the court said.

Glendalians Named on Training Camp Staff

Major Charles L. Wyman, 430 Piedmont street and Gil A. Cowan of The Glendale Evening News staff have been named to a county-side committee headed by Lieutenant Colonel George H. Chase with offices in the Marsh Strong building, Los Angeles, by the Citizens' Military Training Camps association in California. Major Walter H. Adams, 823 Harvard avenue, Burbank, is named committee member for the sister community.

Two camps are offered the youth of the state this year, one at Del Monte, opening July 21, where students will be instructed in infantry, cavalry, field artillery, engineering, signal corps and basic army work. Los Angeles county is given a quota of 303 for the former and fifty for coast artillery study at Fort Winifred Scott, according to information received here today.

The committee members shortly will be furnished with application blanks and information circulars and a list of surgeons who have volunteered to make the necessary physical examinations. All service clubs and schools, mayors and postmasters, among others, will be circulated, it is stated, in recruiting the student officers by Ninety-first division.

New Theatre Extends Year's Pass for Name

Attention, cross-word puzzle fans! A year's pass to the new motion picture theatre now going up at the northeast corner of Brand boulevard and Windsor road will be given to everyone who guesses the name chosen for the new playhouse. The offer is made by Harry Gerson, proprietor.

"This offer has no strings on it," said Mr. Gerson. "I have already selected the name. It has just five letters and is taken from a prominent film producing company. No matter if there are 100 or more who guess the right name, each will get a year's pass." Asked when the new theatre will open, Mr. Gerson replied it will be soon. Those who seek to win year's passes have until March 23 to sharpen their wits. The contest closes on that date. As soon thereafter as a check can be made, the winner or winners will be announced.

Artist Department To Give Brahms Program

A Brahms program will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight at the meeting of the Artists' department of Glendale Music club at the J. T. Edwards home, 1213 North Brand boulevard. Miss Gertrude Cleophas, chairman, will preside. Miss Alberta Green is to give a paper on the life and works of the composer Brahms. Wesley Kuhle, local pianist, is to play three Brahms compositions, two ballads from Opus 10, and "Rhapsodie in G Minor" from Opus 73. Frederick Clint, violinist, will play Brahms' Hungarian dances.

Madame Catherine Collette, recently returned from study in New York City, is to sing "The Saphire Ode," "The Vain Suit," "My Love Is Green" and "Love Song" by Brahms. Mrs. Alice Ripley will accompany her. The Nevins trio, including Mesdames Frank Arnold, A. M. Draper and C. A. Parker, will sing "Lullaby" and "The Dustman" by Brahms. Mrs. Ripley will accompany them.

Lieut. Schell Visits At Home of Parents

Lieutenant E. W. Schell of the U. S. Army, spent the weekend with his parents and sister, Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Schell and Mrs. Helen S. Moir, 614 North Kenwood street. Mrs. Moir's daughter Helen, who has been ill at Glendale Research hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis, is reported as convalescing rapidly.

Interest in classical music has recently been falling off in London.

SCIENCE BENT ON LOW WAVE SECRET

Just Now Ultra, Ultra Ray Has Become Hobby of Radio Fans

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Science is bent on determining just how "ultra" the ultra-low wave length can become. The American Radio Relay league, it was learned today, has asked the department of commerce, permission to experiment with transmission on the wave band between one-half and three-quarters of a meter. Before granting this request the department will make a survey to find out what interference would be caused to other experiments now being concentrated on the low waves. As far as is known, however, this wave band lying below a meter is seldom used.

Under present limitations the amateurs are permitted to use bands between 4.65 and 5.35 meters as well as the 18.7 to 21.4, the 37.5 to 42.8, and the 75 to 85.7 meter bands. Successful tests have been concentrated on the band lying around five meters and reception has been reported over great distances.

The short wave has become the pet hobby of amateurs as well as the subject of intensive experiments by the Radio Corporation of America, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co., and the General Electric Co. Although, so far, not suitable for broadcasting, the low and ultra-low bands are said to offer great possibilities for commercial traffic. Much successful re-broadcasting also is being carried out by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co. Electric companies on wave lengths of a hundred meters and less.

The amateurs' decision to experiment with the half meter wave length resulted from recent conferences of officials of the Relay league, when reports from branches of the organization throughout the country showed that the amateurs in general have lost much of their former interest in ordinary transmission of messages and conversation with their fellow operators and are concerned chiefly with seeking distance records for their transmitters and other experimental work.

TRAFFIC CLAIMS 5 DEATHS IN 1 DAY

Two Babies Are On List; Number Dying In And Around L. A.

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Five persons, including two babies are dead, a number are reported to be dying and several others are nursing injuries today, as the result of automobile crashes within the last twenty-four hours in and near Los Angeles.

The dead are Jay C. Nofsinger, three-months-old son of J. C. Nofsinger, staff artist of a Los Angeles newspaper; E. E. Bennett, 64; Robert Mainsinger, 17-months-old baby of Lawrence Mainsinger; Melton Glendo, 24, and Pas De Lureo, an 18-year-old girl.

Sojourning Masons to Meet on Next Monday

The call for a meeting of sojourning Master Masons published in Saturday's Glendale Evening News brought out a large number of men interested in forming a lodge or club of Masons not now affiliated with any of the local lodges. Steps were taken to bring together at another meeting Sunday afternoon, March 29, most of those in Glendale who may be interested in this subject. A. M. Dewey presided at this meeting and was instructed to send a personal letter to every sojourning Mason in this vicinity whose address can be obtained, and all such who may see this notice of meeting are requested to call at the office of Mr. Dewey, 204 East Broadway, and leave their names and addresses. Those present yesterday, in addition to all who have previously signified their approval of these plans, represented lodges in several states and the dominion of Canada.

Italian Metal Workers Continue Dissatisfied

ROME, March 16.—A settlement which failed to cover all the ground complicated the metal workers' strike today. The agreement reached affects only the owners and the Fascist syndicate, while the socialist organization controls four-fifths of the strikers, who are likely to continue the strike despite the raise of two and a fifth lire a day.

Englishman To Hang For Murder of Girl

LEWES, England, March 16.—Norman Thorne, young farmer of Clewborough, must go to the gallows for the murder of his sweet-heart, Elsie Cameron. This was the verdict today of the jury which found him guilty of hanging her when she came to his little bungalow to plead that he marry her.

Last Day to File Income Tax Returns

Income tax returns may be filed until midnight tonight, at the local headquarters of the internal revenue bureau, in the rear of the postoffice building, 416 East Broadway. The office will be open until that hour, according to Allen Martin and George Donovan, deputy collectors. This affords every Glendale resident an opportunity to file today and escape the penalty on all returns filed after midnight. The collectors urge the public not to wait until the last hour tonight but to call at once and file their returns. Blank and full information will be furnished.

Democrats—None.

Paired: Warren, Republican, of Wyoming, with Overman, Democrat, North Carolina; Greene, Republican, of Vermont, with Jones, Democrat, of New Mexico; Phipps, Republican, Colorado, with Pittman, Democrat, of Nevada; Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania, with McMaster, Republican, of South Dakota; Edge, Republican, of New Jersey, with Stephens, Democrat, of Mississippi. Absent—

Underwood, Democrat, Alabama. The vote was taken amid an atmosphere of tenseness such as the Senate has seldom witnessed. Its proportions, 44 to 39, were exactly as predicted in International News Service dispatches of this date.

Absolute silence pervaded the chamber as the clerks started the rollcall. When it had proceeded down almost halfway the door of the chamber opened and down the center aisle walked Senator La Follette of Wisconsin. Tanned by the tropical suns of Florida, the Wisconsin insurgent stalked to his seat amid a buzz of comment in the galleries. A moment later he responded to the calling of his name with a ringing "No." He came to Washington especially to vote.

Await Coolidge Move
Immediately after the vote the Senate adjourned, until noon tomorrow to ascertain if President Coolidge desires to submit another name. If he does not, the Senate will adjourn tomorrow for the summer, leaving the president to make a recess appointment of either Warren or whatever candidate he selects.

Both sides mustered every vote possible. At the instance of Republican leaders, Senator Smoot was summoned from a sick bed to cast his vote for Warren, and Senator Lenroot was summoned from the bedside of his wife, who is gravely ill in Minnesota.

On the other side, Senator La Follette returned from Florida, and Senator Howell of Nebraska, was called from a sick bed.

Warren Hears Result

The vote showed that an actual majority of the complete Senate of ninety-six members opposed Warren's nomination. The opposition polled forty-four actual votes, as it was, and five others were paired which made a grand total of forty-nine senators out of ninety-six who opposed the president's choice. Warren was at the White House when the news of his rejection for the second time was given to him by International News Service.

The defeat suffered by the administration today's vote was more severe than when the nomination was first rejected last Tuesday. At that time the vote was 41 to 39, but Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, voted no so he would be in a position to ask for reconsideration. The actual lineup on Tuesday was 40-40 and only the absence of Vice-President Dawes prevented a break of the tie and confirmation of Warren.

BLOTTING PAPER PINK NEW COLOR

Evening Drapes of Silk Velvet Showing In Latest Shade

By AILEEN LAMONT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, March 16.—Have we a new color among us? The very latest one, as late as a sporting extra, is blotting paper pink. It is being shown in a smart shop here in the form of an evening cape of silk velvet worn over a simple straight evening frock of the same shade, embroidered in lavender-colored pearls.

While French designers are fighting over whether skirts shall be short or only moderately short, an American designer has designed a frock which complies with the tenets of each side. The skirt of this black velvet evening costume is long but it is split to the hip. The edges of this opening are wrapped around the figure and the long ends are pulled up and tied in a huge bow. This serves to lift the hem on one side to the knee or higher.

Never Lacked Color

Nobody thought it strange when Lady de Barthe, better known as the great beauty of King Edward's reign, Lily Langtry, adopted the most brilliantly-colored printed silks for wear at Monte Carlo. She has just published a book of memories of a color no less brilliant and which is calculated to make some of those remembered squirm like any silk worm.

Fur hands on coats are no novelty when they are horizontal, but when they run up and down they are a distinct innovation. The latest book of memories from Paris is of black grosgrain silk with perfectly plain collar and sleeves but with six wide squirrel bands falling from the low hip line to below the knee.

Newest of the Camiknickers, as the English call combinations, shows the direct influence of the pleats so extensively used in Europe. Whether hand-embroidered line, or crepe de chine, or crepe de laine, the combinations of lingerie utilize on the side of the drawers the wide inverted box pleats to give a bountiful freedom of movement.

BUY AT HOME

Isolation is no more desirable for a community than it is for a nation. Co-operation between neighboring cities in matters that concern them both is to be encouraged. But to help build up another community at the expense of our own is both disloyal and short-sighted.

Advertisements of out-of-town merchants are brought to your door daily. But these merchants have no interest in Glendale, except to get our money. And the mediums through which they advertise are concerned only with building up large circulations in Glendale so they may charge higher rates for their advertising space. They are all working for their own interests and we have no quarrel with them on that score except that their interests are not in Glendale.

But are we in Glendale working for our own interests? Not if we succumb to the lure of this out-of-town advertising and go away from home to trade. If we live in Glendale our interests are here and when we spend our money in another community we are helping to build up that community at the expense of our own.

The merchants display their wares very attractively in these out-of-town advertising mediums; real bargain sales are not infrequent. But Glendale merchants are in a position to meet their prices to such an extent that Glendale buyers cannot afford to spend money for carfare or for gas to go out of town to trade. What you buy out of town costs you more in time, money and effort than what you buy at home, even if the price of the article is the same in both places.

For those who have their homes in a city where the standard of merchandising is as high as it is in Glendale, trading out of town is to the interest neither of the citizen nor the city. Our business men have invested their money in Glendale and are helping to boost realty values; they pay taxes here and they take part in all our civic movements and improvements.

People of Glendale, let us build up our own community and let other cities take care of themselves.

SOFT COAL TRADE IN SEMI-COLLAPSE

Commerce Department After Survey Says Industry Is Over-Manned

WASHINGTON, March 16.—A condition of semi-collapse exists in the bituminous coal industry, according to the department of commerce, which made public today surveys covering all the fields of the country.

The industry is over-manned and over-produced, according to the government surveys, and the mild weather in February further contributed to the decline that is generally noticeable throughout the entire industry. Remedial measures will be discussed next week at Cleveland where operators of the central competitive field are to meet.

TWO KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

Car Dragged 600 Feet After Crash Near Seattle;
Liquor Blamed

SEATTLE, March 16.—Two men are dead today, following a collision in which their automobile was demolished and dragged 600 feet by a northbound Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul passenger train near Auburn last night.

The bodies of the two men, Ernest Lappenbusch of Buckley and J. Keaton, 30, of Harwood, were found, horribly mangled, fifteen feet from the scene of the accident. Both had been drinking, deputy coroners said today, after an investigation. The engine of the automobile was found mangled in the locomotive's cow-catcher. The train was traveling about forty miles an hour.

Great Britain has spent more than $3,000,000,000 on war pensions since 1917.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, March 16.—Plans for a gala May Day event featuring local children are being worked out by the P. T. A. There will be a fete and parade, it has been decided, and prizes will be awarded winning entries. Go-carts, scooters, bicycles, anything on wheels will be eligible, but everything must be decorated. The boys are to have a track meet and the smaller children, May pole dances.

Councilman Edwin Baker of Los Angeles, who resides in Eagle Rock, has secured an extra clerk in the local building office.

H. G. Warren, who, for a long time, has been giving his entire spare time to the Eagle Rock Pealy board, has resigned from the chairmanship of the lighting committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Word has been received by cablegram, through the United Presbyterian church board, of the safe arrival in India of Miss Louanna McNary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. McNary, who sailed January 17, on missionary work.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Willey, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cutts and mother, Mrs. M. H. Haimbaugh, have left Eagle Rock, where they have resided for several years, to take up their residence on a ranch near Bishop. Mrs. Haimbaugh is interested in a new apartment building in Long Beach and contemplates living there after spending the summer on the ranch.

Mrs. F. W. Bartz and daughter Vella, spent a few days in Eagle Rock last week. The family are now living at Tulare, but were for a long time, residents of Eagle Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goemble, who came from Loveland, Colo., a year ago, and who have been residing on El Verano avenue, have purchased a home on Eagle Dale avenue and moved in last week.

Mrs. Ona M. Blunt of Ellenwood Drive gave a dinner party recently for Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hiles of Los Angeles.

Street accidents in London last year claimed 845 victims, an increase of 178 over the number in 1923.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, March 16.—Fraudulent spirit performing will be exposed tonight at the Methodist church by Rev. Crawford Trotter of Santa Fe Springs, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society. The entertainment will be preceded by a supper at 6:30 o'clock, to which the public is invited. The whole program is carried through by the five year old son of Mr. Trotter, who performs under the direction of his father.

The climax of the work of this little child comes when he succeeds in reading a message that has been previously sealed in a metal case and soldered by a local tinsmith. It takes him exactly five seconds to reproduce the contents of the letter with the seals intact. The letter is prepared and placed in the container without either of the performers having any knowledge of what the letter contains.

Ken Parker, pitcher and manager of the Burbank Merchants' baseball team, has bought this team and the grandstand, together with clubhouse, pop stand, suits, bats and all other equipment. The seller was C. E. Talley, former owner of the club. Parker took charge today. His first step was to make "Happy" Minor secretary-treasurer, thus uniting the two local teams.

Parker says of the future: "We will endeavor to please with high-class baseball, and we hope to prove to the fans of Southern California that Burbank has the fastest club in semi-professional ball."

Dr. W. J. Kyle of Owensmouth, formerly of Mexico; Mrs. Kyle and their son, William; Mrs. Kyle's mother, Mrs. Mosti, of Mexico City, and Mrs. Gilbert of Hollywood were recent luncheon guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Waite of 362 Cypress avenue. The Kyles were friends of the Waites when they lived in Mexico.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, March 16.—Festoons of colored lights strung from the boulevard to the clubhouse gave an atmosphere of welcome on Saturday night when the Masonic club of La Crescenta valley entertained with a package party. The clubrooms were crowded to capacity by those who had looked forward to the good time promised. Opening a short musical program Mrs. Royal Lowe sang "Grey Days." Mrs. Lowe who only lately has become known to La Crescenta audiences is proving most popular with her beautiful voice. "Peggy Dear," a duet by Mrs. A. F. Hopkins and Mrs. Imogene Smith was well received as was the solo "Just a Little Bit of Heaven" chosen by Mrs. Smith in honor of St. Patrick's day. The California poppy dance was given by Elizabeth Talbot Martin in costume.

After the program there was dancing and G. Bakewell took charge of the package auction with his witty remarks and apt salesmanship. Over $25 was the result of Mr. Bakewell's speeches, Mark Collins bidding in the Masonic emblem for $10. Mr. Collins will donate this to the Masonic club. The committee on arrangements, Messrs. A. F. Hopkins, E. Wetmore and G. Bakewell extend their appreciation to the Verdugo City pharmacy for the donation of grape juice and boxes of bon bons for the sale also to the Salmacia brothers for the loan of the piano for the evening and to Mr. Seaman, manager of the Bakewell service station for donation of music for the evening.

Next Saturday evening Mrs. George Yensen of Highway Highlands will give an old-fashioned school party. About eighteen guests are expected. A realistic picture of a Friday afternoon in a country school will be enacted. All Masons are invited.

Next Wednesday night District Deputy Carl Wilde of the order of I. O. O. F. will be present at the meeting called for the purpose of advancing the organization of an auxiliary order of Rebekahs in La Crescenta valley. An interesting program is promised followed by an instructive talk by Mr. Wilde after which there will be a buffet supper served. All interested in joining the Rebekahs are invited to attend. All unmarried women over 18 are eligible.

Married women who have a male relative or a husband who is a member are also eligible. To date about forty-five persons have signified their intention of joining the new chapter when organized. The Wednesday night party will be held in the Fowler building, corner of Los Angeles and Honolulu avenues at 8 p. m.

P. T. A. reading circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Virna Harmon Walker on Wednesday at 10 a. m. for physical culture instruction. At 11 o'clock the reading will be taken up by Mrs. Vernon Hall. Lunch will be served, women bringing their own sandwiches, the hostess serving coffee. All new residents of the valley are invited to join the circle.

Extensive plans are under way for the second annual mess call of the Verdugo Hills American Legion post No. 238. The affair will be held at the school which is to be special; decorated for the occasion by members of the auxiliary, who will also have charge of making the cakes. Dinner will be $1. Tickets for the affair are now on sale at all the valley drug stores and other shops. Legionnaires urge reservations be made as soon as possible.

Tickets are selling rapidly for the St. Patrick's dance to be given tomorrow night by the firemen for the benefit of the equipment fund. These men, loyal members of the local Angelus Forest Protective association, are working hard to give everyone an exceptionally good time at the Irish party. There will be refreshments of the home-made variety served by the feminine portion of the association. The hall will be decorated in keeping with the holiday being observed. Every inducement is being offered to get all the valley residents out to support the organization whose members are at present busy constructing fire breaks along the hillsides to protect the valley during the dry months. The dance will be held in the Crescenta school building.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosson of East Mayfield avenue, are rejoicing over the arrival of a son, who was born at Dr. Uterly's sanatorium on Briggs terrace last week. The young man and his mother are reported to be doing nicely.

Tomorrow afternoon the literature section of the La Crescenta Women's club will meet at the home of Mrs. Mark Collins to continue their study of "California History" under the direction of

Call Meeting For Wednesday To Perfect Plans Of New Organization

Following the announcement Saturday in The Glendale Evening News that Republican women of Glendale and vicinity are to have a luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, to organize a Republican Women's Study club of Glendale, there has been great demand for luncheon tickets.

The organization of the local club will comply with a request from the State Federation of Republican Women's clubs, of which Mrs. O. P. Clark, national committeewoman, is president. Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Florence Collins Porter, chairman of the southern division of the state federation; and Miss Nellie Kelly, southern district organizer, will be present and speak at the luncheon. Formal organization will be affected. Reservations for the luncheon close tomorrow noon. Any Glendale woman desirous of attending can secure reservation from Mrs. Ella Richardson, Glendale 1559-J, or from Mrs. Opal Greenwalt, Glendale 1977-J.

YOU MAY BE IMMUNE TO DIPHTHERIA (Part 2)

You may be immune to diphtheria, as well as other germ diseases. This means that even though you are exposed, you will not, under ordinary circumstances, contract these diseases.

In last week's papers I gave you a table showing that a large percentage of adults and a smaller percentage of children are naturally immune to diphtheria; in other words, their bodies naturally carry a diphtheria antitoxin.

Antitoxin, which perhaps you have thought of only as a curative, is also a preventative of diphtheria. If it is given to a susceptible person who has been exposed to diphtheria, it will produce an artificial immunity very rapidly. However, this immunity is not very lasting. It is eliminated from the system within two weeks, probably. But as the time for the germs to develop to the stage when the symptoms are produced (the incubation period) is from two to seven days, it is the best protective for immediate usage.

There has been a method perfected which will produce an artificial immunity to diphtheria which is probably as permanent as the natural immunity. This process causes the system itself to manufacture the antitoxin, and when the system itself manufactures any antitoxin, it apparently becomes a stable part of the cells of the body. This process of immunizing the body against diphtheria is known as the Toxin-Antitoxin vaccination.

This immunization treatment consists of the injection of a very minute amount of a solution made of diphtheria toxin combined with enough antitoxin so that the toxin is neutralized to the extent of not being poisonous, and yet retains its power to stimulate the body cells to develop antitoxin.

There are three injections of this given, each a week apart. It takes about three weeks (and in some cases much longer) after the first injection, for the body to manufacture an appreciable amount of the antitoxin, so we still depend upon the straight antitoxin for quick immunity for a susceptible person who has been exposed to diphtheria.

There may be some local and constitutional reaction from this toxin-antitoxin, but it is over in from one to three days. The younger the child, the less the disturbance. Diphtheria is largely a disease of childhood and is an exceedingly dangerous disease. There can be no question as to the advisability of choosing between the slight indisposition of the toxin-antitoxin vaccine and the terrible chance of death from diphtheria.

A large percentage of school children of New York and some other cities, with their parents' consent, have been immunized with this toxin-antitoxin against diphtheria. When this immunization becomes universal, then diphtheria is going to cease taking its annual toll of deaths.

We hoped, when the diphtheria antitoxin first came into general use in 1895, that diphtheria would be robbed of its terrors. The death rate has gone down markedly, but because so often the antitoxin is not given in time and because of the propaganda against any form of medical treatment, the results have not been what we hoped from it. Health officers believe that if the children are immunized by this newer method, over 90 per cent of them will never contract the disease. Diphtheria would be as rare as smallpox when the antitoxin is given in sufficient amounts.

Remember that toxin-antitoxin is not given as a curative, but as a preventive; antitoxin is the curative.

A word more about antitoxin not being given in time. The modern physician will give antitoxin in suspicious sore throats before he waits for the laboratory diagnosis, because the efficacy of the antitoxin depends upon its early use, in sufficient amounts.

Tomorrow I am going to give you some of the recent reports on the Toxin-Antitoxin immunization treatment, so that you can appreciate how effective it is.

Wedding Tonight

Beautiful in all its appointments will be the wedding of Miss Nelle P. Leggett of 1120 East Wilson avenue and William A. Smale of Nassau, Bahamas islands, tonight, Monday, March 16, 1925, at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Leggett, 1120 East Wilson avenue. Rev. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church, will perform the ring ceremony. One hundred relatives and friends of the couple will be present to witness their marriage. The Leggett home has been beautifully decorated with white carnations and sweet-peas in pastel shades, potted ferns and palms. Sweetpeas and carnations have been arranged to form a background for the wedding ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony Harry Marple will sing "Oh, Promise Me" and "Because," with Miss Florence Heacock as accompanist. Following the last solo Lohengrin's wedding march will be played as the bridal party enters. Miss Leggett will be given in a wedding dress of white silk, made in straight lines and trimmed at the side with a rhinestone ornament and side drape. She will wear a wedding veil ruffled high in back with lilies of the valley and an ornament decorating the back of the veil. A band of pearls will hold the veil in place. She will carry a bride's shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley, with sprigs of fern in the shower of ribbons. Mrs. Harry Percival Coker, jr., of Hollywood, close friend of the bride, will act as matron of honor. She will wear a French dress of cream net with an underslip of pink taffeta. A French flower ornament will be worn in her hair and she will carry a bouquet of butterfly roses and ferns. Doris Leggett, niece of the bride, will be ring bearer. Wearing a bouffant dress of pink georgette trimmed with ruffles, Little Miss Leggett will enter, carrying the ring on a white satin pillow. Vincent Smale, also a brother of the groom, will be best man of the groom, will be best man.

Following the ceremony congratulations will be received and a reception for wedding guests will be held. Refreshments will be served by twelve girls, friends of the bride. The wedding cake is decorated with a wedding bell and roses, and is on display in a room decorated in white with garlands of smilax.

Miss Leggett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Leggett of 1120 East Wilson avenue, and has made her home in Glendale for the past four years, coming from Paragould, Ark. She attended the University of Illinois, at Urbana, where the romance which is culminating in the wedding tonight began. The groom also attended the University of Illinois. He is an American vice-consul at Nassau, Bahamas islands, having been there for one year. He was previously located at Havana, Cuba. Mr. Smale served in the army during the World War and was made a lieutenant while in the service. Miss Leggett has been honored by number of pre-nuptial courtesies during the past three weeks, since announcement of her engagement. After the wedding the couple will leave for Nassau, where they will make their home.

DARKENED WINDOWS

By CORNELIA KANE RATHBONE

Copyright, D. Appleton &amp; Co. Serialized by Ledger Syndicate

There's a big bunch in it and they are plotting something as sure as I'm sitting here. Just what it is I haven't found out yet, but I'm on the track. Perhaps I've got closer than they like, though I didn't know they had spotted me. But, if they have, that explains our friend with the blackjack. I'm sorry to upset your nice little theory, Mr. Graham, but the more I think about it the surer I am.

"Could there be any connection between the two crimes, do you think?" asked Graham, loath to give up a solution which would exonerate Evadne. "You spoke of these trouble-makers as 'foreign devils,' well, you remember the kitchen maid said she heard Mr. Hurst call out, 'You damn German,' and I was wondering—"

"That's so," assented Flint thoughtfully. "But what connection—"

"Oh, well! I was just wondering," said Graham.

"Of course, he may have found out something the same as I have, and threatened—I'll follow it up, anyway."

Graham was elated. That exclamation of Mr. Hurst's might turn out to be a clue, and it was he who had suggested it! He conveyed the same excitedly to Flint.

Flint smiled. "Yes, it might be a clue," he allowed.

"But, see here, Mr. Graham," he added, "it's hands off with this affair I've told you about. It's too delicate, not to say dangerous, a proposition for a novice to mix up in. By a look or a word, without suspecting it, you might queer my whole game. I must have your word that the minute I begin to see the same hand, or head rather, in this attempt on me and in the murder of Hannibal Hurst, that minute you will step out of the game. Till then, which will probably be never, I shall be glad to keep you posted as to all I do in tonight's affair."

Graham gave his promise readily. All his interest in the Hurst case centered in Evadne. If she were freed from all suspicion of complicity it mattered not a whit to him who was found guilty.

"Give me warning and I will become the soul of discretion," he said. "I'll even swear not to recognize you if I meet you disguised as the very devil himself. According to the story books, that's the thing to do, isn't it?"

Graham laughed gayly at his own nonsense. He was ready to laugh without any excuse what ever. He was excited; he was treading on air. Anarchist plot—of course, it was an anarchist plot! No shadow could fall on Evadne.

He insisted on seeing Flint safe in the guardianship of the trolleys and the electric lights, and then, after finding out that he was to meet Flint in the morning at the Hurst house, as the detective wanted to interview Miss Smith there, and learn if anything was missing from the safe, he turned gayly homeward. He felt tinglingly alive, deliciously, deliciously young. He knew that, somehow, he had missed youth till now. He lifted his hat and his fingers through his carefully smoothed hair, ruffling it out, roughly, luxuriating in the cool touch of the night air on his forehead. His feet trod the pavements, but his eyes were lifted joyously to the small, sharp stars, and his soul was breathing, as it were, the odors of sweet, old-fashioned flowers in a spring-time garden where the sun lay warm and the birds were calling, "Evadne, Evadne." Her name, he thought, was like the singing of birds.

Then suddenly his soul in its garden shivered; a shadow had fallen across the sun, the birds were silenced. The bracelet—again he had forgotten the bracelet—Philippa's bracelet in Evadne's room! His eyes fell away from the stars to the pavement. He went on with bent head.

The sight of a telegraph boy standing on the steps as he reached his uncle's house brought him an added suggestion of disaster, doubtless an echo of long-past fear still persisting from days when telegrams were rare and only bad news traveled by wire.

Before opening the envelope, addressed, he saw, to himself, he fumbled for his latchkey, entered the house and closed the door softly behind him. For the second time that night he found himself standing in a darkened hallway. It gave him an uncanny sense of beginning the evening afresh. He caught himself listening again for the wailing cry which had lured him on to his great adventure. He groped nervously for the electric switch. It seemed minutes instead of seconds before he found it. When the familiar objects at last flashed into view he had a distinct feeling of relief.

Without stopping to remove hat or coat, he tore open the telegram and found his misgivings verified. His uncle had been severely injured in an automobile accident and was now in an Albany hospital, his condition serious though not critical. He requested that the accident be kept, if possible, from his daughter.

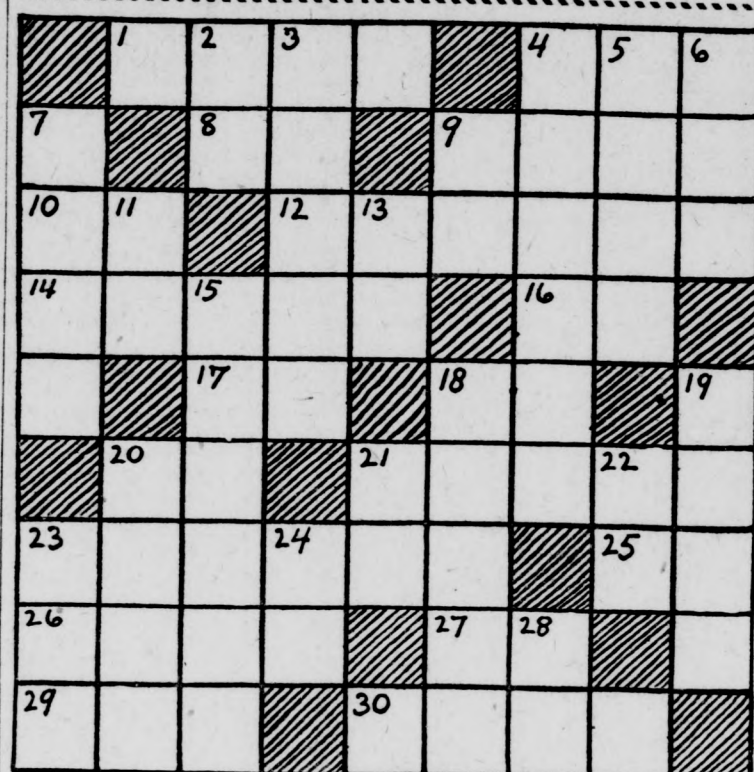

Graham, whose affection for his uncle was almost that of a son, read the message with great concern. Later the thought came to him with a thrill that on his shoulders had now fallen the responsibility of watching over Evadne's interests, and, if need be, of defending her. But that thought came afterward.

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterrupted. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the square that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterrupted.

HORIZONTAL

- 1 Faith
- 4 Unmarried
- 7 Mislead
- 8 Virginia (ab.)
- 9 Either
- 10 Fabulous horned animal
- 12 Father
- 14 Lately discovered

- 16 A compound
- 21 Caring
- 22 Order of merit (ab.)
- 23 Preposition
- 24 Before
- 25 Impose upon
- 29 Put into practice

VERTICAL

- 1 Flock together
- 2 Gold
- 3 Careful
- 4 Lacquer
- 5 Likewise not
- 6 An eagle
- 7 Vitality
- 8 Constraints
- 9 Anglo-Norman (ab.)
- 10 Behold

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Copyright, 1925, By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

UNCLE WIGGILY AND JACKIE'S BONE

When Uncle Wiggily hopped out of his hollow stump bungalow one day, to go to the store for Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the bunny gentleman saw Jackie Bow Wow digging as fast as he could in the hard ground.

"Are you trying to dig a hole so you may go in it and hide?" asked Uncle Wiggily of the little doggie boy.

"Oh, no," barked Jackie. "I'm trying to dig up a bone that my brother Peetie buried here last week. I traded him five marbles and one of my tops for his bone. And now it's mine!"

"It's yours if you dig it up!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "But it looks like hard work, Jackie."

"It is hard," agreed the doggie boy, sitting down for a moment on the edge of the hole, which he had dug to reach the bone. "But I'll get it up pretty soon, and then I'll have something good to gnaw on. It's a hollow bone, Peetie said, and they're the best kind."

Uncle Wiggily hopped on to the store, to get his muskrat lady housekeeper three pounds of sugar to make a cake, and as he went the bunny called back to Jackie:

"I'll help you when I return, if you haven't dug your bone up by that time."

"Thank you!" barked the doggie boy, and he began scratching out the gravel faster than ever.

When Mr. Longears hopped back from the store with the sugar, there was Jackie still digging away.

"Haven't you got your bone out yet?" asked the rabbit.

"No, Peetie buried it very deep," answered Jackie, for you know dogs thus hide the bones they don't want to eat right away. "But I can see a little bit of it sticking up," said Jackie. "I'll soon have it uncovered."

Uncle Wiggily took the sugar in the hollow stump bungalow and while he was waiting for Nurse Jane to bake the cake, the bunny thought he would help Jackie dig up the bone.

The doggie chap was resting on the edge of the hole, which was now larger and deeper, and when Uncle Wiggily hopped over to it Jackie pointed out the edge of the bone, sticking up from where it was buried deep in the ground.

"I don't see why Peetie ever put the bone so far down," complained Jackie. "I guess he was glad to trade it off to me for the marbles and top—he didn't want the work of digging it up himself."

"We'll soon have it up!" said Uncle Wiggily, cheerful like. "Let me dig a while." With his strong paws, just made for digging in the earth, the rabbit uncovered more of the bone.

"Oh, I can see the hole in it now!" cried Jackie. "And truly the bone did have a large hole all the way through it, as marrow bones always have. 'Maybe I can put my paw in the hole of the bone and pull it up that way!'" barked Jackie.

He tried, but he couldn't do it. Then Uncle Wiggily put his paw in the hole of the bone and he tried to pull it up for Jackie. But the bunny couldn't do it.

Then, all of a sudden, along came pattering the Fuzzy Fox.

"Now wait a minute! Stop!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I know what you are going to say, Mr. Fox—that you are going to nibble my ears. But before you do that, please put your paw down in the hole of this bone, buried in the earth, and pull it up for Jackie. Then you may nibble my ears."

"Fair enough!" chuckled the Fox. So he thrust his paw very hard down inside the bone hole. But when he tried to pull the bone up he couldn't. And when he tried to pull his paw out of the hole in the bone he couldn't do that, either. "Oh, I'm stuck! I'm caught! This is a trap!" howled the Fox.

"Well, we didn't mean it so, but perhaps it is!" laughed the bunny. Then he and Jackie ran off and got the Police Dog, who came and arrested the Fox. For the bad chap was still caught. And then, after digging around it a bit, the bone came up, still fast to the paw of the Fox, and they had to get it off.

Then Jackie had the pieces of bone to gnaw, Uncle Wiggily went in his bungalow to eat some cake and the Fox was taken off to jail for bad chaps and he's there yet, if he hasn't gotten loose.

The next story, if the clock doesn't stop ticking to listen to the radio sing, will be about Uncle Wiggily painting the floor.

REV. THOMAS TEXT HINTS HOLY WEEK

Grand View Pastor Tells His Parishioners To Prepare For Easter Period

"The Field Is The World" was the sermon theme at Grand View church yesterday morning, from the text "Occupy Till I Come."

"We are in the heart of the Holy Season," said George W. Thomas, pastor. "Drawing daily nearer to the Cross, and we ought to search deeper and deeper into its mysteries and its meanings. To walk by His side as He goes up to Jerusalem, to share His companionship, to enter into what Paul calls 'The fellowship of His sufferings,' these are the priceless privileges of the Christian during these days and weeks. We ought not to miss anything among them which we are able to make a part of our life."

"But above all, we must understand that spiritual experiences, however wonderful, refreshments and renewals of mind and soul, are not ends in themselves and for themselves alone. They are not to remain effects. They must become causes. Jesus did not go to the Cross simply in order to produce religious ecstasies of contemplation among His followers. He went because He wanted to do something that otherwise could never be done."

Winning of World

"That thing was the winning of all this world back to the Father, an age long, almost incalculable task, to be finished in the ages of ages. He invited His followers today to go with Him to the Cross, the Tomb, the Resurrection and Ascension, because He wants the sufferings, the refreshings, the ecstasies, the experience of it all to enable them to see what He saw and to share in ever increasing power in what He is doing. When they see what He saw, they will be willing and able to do what He wants done."

"The Holy Season, then, is not primarily and finally for what it can produce in us, but for the sake of what we, because of its inspiration and power within us, can do in the world for which Jesus died."

Grow Spiritually

"Occupy till I come," He said on His way to Jerusalem. "Take for me and use for me the riches of life I have given you. Follow me to the Cross and beyond it, the world for which He died and you must live. Invest your life in that. Grow spiritually mightier every year and I will bless your investment. When I come I will reward you in proportion to what you did with the riches I entrusted to your keeping in the field which is the world."

'PASSOVER' TAKEN FOR SUNDAY TEXT

Rev. Kringle's Sermon For Zion Lutheran Tells Of Jewish Feast

Rev. Henry O. Kringle, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church spoke yesterday morning on "The Passover," saying:

"In our text of Luke 22:7-12 upon which our discourse is based, we find that the Passover, the festival of the Passover, was drawing nigh. Of the three highest feasts of the Old Testament period, celebrated by the command of God, the Passover was the most sacred. Each year the chosen people of the ancient church were reminded of the deliverance of their ancestors from the bondage of Egypt, of that remarkable event when the avenging angel of Jehovah passed over the houses and spared the first-born of Israel, but slew the first-born of their Egyptian oppressors. Hurriedly that night the tribes of Israel received orders to leave their homes. No adequate arrangements could be made. There was not even time to leaven and bake bread; hence, afterwards in order to recall the privations of the fathers the Israelites were directed to eat the same kind of bread, unleavened, the festival week and therefore, it was named, as in the opening verse of our text, 'The Day of the Unleavened Bread.'

Lamb's Sacrifice

"And this Jewish Passover was the type and shadow of another, of a deeper and more glorious significance. The 'Lamb without blemish and without spot' that had to be slaughtered that occasion referred to another Lamb. That innocent blood which turned away the angel of death from the dwelling whose doorposts were sprinkled therewith, foreshadowed the blood of Jesus Christ, who as the holy writer says 'through the eternal spirit offered Himself for the warding off of eternal death.'

"Even Christ, our Passover is sacrificed for us."

"And while no divine command binds us, the Christian church has in her wisdom annually set aside a period in which the church directs the hearts and minds of Christians to those sacred scenes which connect with our redemption. The touching Biblical announcement of those days before Easter is: 'Behold we go up to Jerusalem, and all things that are written by the prophets concerning the son of man shall be accomplished. For He shall be delivered unto the Gentiles and shall be mocked and spitefully entreated and spitted upon. And they shall scourge Him and put Him to death. And the third day he shall rise again.'

Preparation

"The main preparation for the Passover was the paschal lamb. In that the celebration centered. An Israelite who did not partake of the Passover meal virtually shut himself out from the Old Testament church. It is no other with observance of the Lenten season. The center of Christianity is Christ and the center of Christ's history is His passion or suffering for the sins of the world."

"It is Christ as the true paschal lamb, whom all those ancient sacrifices foreshadowed that is being placed before us in this Lenten season, in order that you might partake of it in solemn and devout contemplation. Are you ready to go along, to accompany the Lord in His path of suffering, to the Mount of Olives, at whose foot is the Garden of Gethsemane, the high priest's palace, and the Roman judgment hall; on to the place of a skull with its uplifted cross; along that dismal path of sorrows? There is nothing to impress and soften our soul like an understanding and believing view of what the son of God has done and suffered for man's redemption. This is to partake of the Passover, spiritually to eat it."

"What an appropriate Lenten meditation. Realizing our sinfulness and the mournful and disastrous consequences it has

REV. KEMP SPEAKS ON CONFIRMATION

Episcopal Pastor Tells Why Members Are Admitted In This Way

"Why the Episcopal Church Admits by Confirmation" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning by Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church. He said:

"This, the first in a series of three sermons in which I am going to recall to your mind some of the fundamental characteristics of the branch of the Christian church to which we belong. Today the subject will be the method of admission and the general characteristics of our church. What does our fellowship in this church of ours mean?"

"For some it undoubtedly means walking in the footsteps of our fathers for we, in most cases, come from generations of church people who have never had to consider the conflicting claims of different Christian fellowships. Like our citizenship in our country we would not think of changing, but for others this has not been the case. Our right to call ourselves Episcopalians is the result of perhaps a long and hard spiritual struggle along a pathway filled in some cases with unhappy experiences of ungenial spiritual surroundings. Yet for all of us the way of approach has been that of confirmation."

Always Observed

"This is the mode the church has always observed from very earliest days. As we read in the Acts of the Apostles, 'When the apostles that were at Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the word of God they sent unto them Peter and John: who when they were come down prayed for them that they might receive the Holy Ghost. . . . Then laid they their hands on them and they received the Holy Ghost.'

"The understanding of the reason why we have always preserved this and many other customs is best seen in the two words historical and scriptural. Confirmation administered by the bishop who was the successor to the apostles, was the New Testament method and for the great part of the history of the church has been the universal custom of the church. Those who want to share in the full life of our communion must go through this method."

Best Way

"Our church has always felt that this is the best way of sharing in the common task resting upon all Christians of being witnesses for Christ. It has ever been our feeling that the practical work of a united Christendom if that ever comes about will be through the medium of an episcopally directed church."

"The continuity of administration under the bishops which has stood the test of many storms is our best evidence for this. In the articles drawn up at the Lambeth conference in 1888 were given the hope for a united church. They included the Holy Scriptures, Apostles' and Nicene Creeds, two sacraments of baptism and Lord's Supper, and the historic episcopate. These were set forth as the basis for a reunited church. We may be wrong and there may be another basis for a united church upon the high priestly office of the Pope, but we believe in the power of the word Catholic with a new alignment, on the basis of life, not organization, but this is the official position of the church as we represent it."

Loyalty to Him

"Whatever the future may have in store, let us never be ashamed of our fellowship in Christ; keeping ever alive our loyalty to Him to whom we owe every allegiance. He is the foundation stone of every church that is seeking to serve Him."

"We have, however, felt that we can best serve Him in this Christian family that under the brought upon us, let us turn in faith to Jesus Christ and we shall be saved."

NEED OF RELIGION IS SERMON TOPIC

Rev. Calderwood Urges All To Accept Benefits Of God's House

"Does Religion Need the church?" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning by Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the Congregational church. He said:

"We agree that the new world needs religion. Does religion need the church? People say that the church was necessary for religion once but that now it is like the old feudal castle, a relic of the past. Some say that it is not needed because other institutions have taken over its work of education, philanthropy and social service and doing it better. The church has been separated from the state, from education, from philanthropy and from many other activities and this is an indication that it may be separated from all life and even from religious life, they say."

"Can religion thrive without the church? What we want is religion. That is the end. We want men to know and obey God and to follow Jesus Christ. We want men to do this because we are thoroughly convinced that men need it. We want men to do this because the world needs their highest service. We are not concerned about the church as an end. If we can have better and more religion without the church, let us do away with it."

Finding Religion

"Would we have better and more religion if we let each person find God for himself and worship God in his own original way. Let each one discover Christ accidentally in the study of general history. Let each person learn virtue by bitter experience. Let religion be absolutely spontaneous. Is this the best method of producing a deeper religious life? If so, let us adopt it."

"Religious people who are outside of the church are beneficiaries of the church, though they do not attend its services. The church creates and sustains a moral and religious atmosphere which they breathe every day. If the church does people good by operating on them at long range would it not do them much more good by operating on them at close range? Ask the man who accepted the ministry of the church for forty years what it has brought into his life."

Comparison

"A political leader needs a party to carry out effect his ideals and policies; a teacher with a great message needs a school; the great philanthropist who would minister to a suffering world needs an organization; so a great personally effective man needs to make himself effective among men. The church is needed to incorporate and perpetuate the memory and teachings of Jesus our Master."

"The workmen could not build the church without tools. We cannot do an effective work for Christ without tools, without an institution. The tool may need improvement but nevertheless the tool is necessary."

Religious Drift

"Are we to let religion drift and get along as best may or are we to unite our religious spirit and our forces and make religious life by organization. Christians as individuals cannot establish colleges for Christian education nor travel alone over land and sea to carry on missionary enterprise nor can individuals alone effectively combat evil."

"We need to worship alone and we need the church for Christian fellowship. We need to find God together. We need faith and character strengthened. We need religion organized into a church to keep alive the outside pieties which are good. We need organization to preserve religious life. Religious life has been kept alive and is now growing because of the church. Religious life does not need less church but the church needs all the religious life there is, and let us do a larger work for the Master."

guidance of our bishops has preserved those great characteristics which we have called the scriptural and the historical, and casting no discredit upon the ways of anybody else so long as they conscientiously seek to serve our common Lord."

'TRUE REVIVAL' IS PASTOR'S SERMON

Rev. Frodsham Preaches on World's Desire for Reformation

Rev. A. W. Frodsham, pastor of Bethel chapel at 633 East Colorado street, preached yesterday morning on "A True Revival," saying:

"All sections of the Christian church today are desiring to see a true revival of vital Christianity. The means to bring about the same are varied, and if they are not in the will of God they can never bring about a true godly revival."

"In the book of Nehemiah is the record of a revival of national life of Israel, a patriotic revival. The circumstances were these: Judah had been taken away captive and the remnant left in Jerusalem were in a sorry condition. The walls of the city were broken down and gates burned. When Nehemiah heard of this he was very much troubled. Nehemiah was a true man of God as well as a patriot. He was a man of the spirit of his day. Like a wise man, the first thing Nehemiah did was to fast and pray. Fasting is not a very popular thing in these days, but it holds an important place in the Bible."

"Prayer changes things. The result was wonderful; the king was moved to sympathy when Nehemiah told the condition of his people. The remarkable thing happened. Nehemiah, who was a slave, got permission to visit Jerusalem and escort was given him for the journey and all the timber he would require for the work of the king's fortress was provided out of the king's stores."

Answered Prayer

"The building of the wall progressed fine, but the enemies of Judah wanted to help in the work of the Lord. It is a sad day for the church of Christ when she allows in her ranks to help forward the work of God persons who have never been born again and have no experimental knowledge of salvation."

"The men who worked on the wall had to work with one hand to hold a weapon and the other a tool. They worked 'till the stars appeared.' There was no eight-hour day for these men."

"The whole is a record how God answered prayer for His people. 'The people had a mind to work,' and that was because the spirit of God stirred them up. The work was finished in fifty-two days and the nation was established again in the land of Judah."

"Today we are seeking to build the kingdom of God. We have different material and different conditions and our results are spiritual. In the fourth of Acts we have the record of the spiritual conditions in the days of the Apostles. The religious leaders of those days were all stirred up because of the healing of a man who was born lame, and the more so because he was healed in the name of Jesus of Nazareth. Peter and John were forbidden to preach in that name."

Request of God

"After this they went to their own company and reported the matter. The whole company prayed to God and their requests were bold, original and startling. They requested that they might speak with boldness in the Name, that God would do more healings, and that signs and miracles should be done in the name of Jesus. God heard their request and as a first requisite they themselves were filled with the Holy Spirit. The subsequent three chapters show how these requests were actually fulfilled."

"They little thought how the answers would come. We see the signs and wonders being done when Ananias and Sapphira were both struck dead for lying. The church today would not be very popular where the clergyman had power to strike dead everyone that lied in his church. The result was that all hypocrites were kept out of the early church. Multitudes were healed, no failures and a great company of priests were obedient to the faith. That was a great miracle than the healings."

"So today we are praying and looking for a revival on the lines, as set forth in the prayer of the early church. This material age needs the supernatural and it will be forthcoming, when the people of God seek, cry and believe for it. We are not going to stop praying for it till we see it come to pass."

CONFERENCE SEEN ON PHILLY TEAM

All Players Working Hard To Please Their Boss, Arthur Fletcher

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
SARASOTA, Fla., March 16.—Once upon a time there was a group of worthy but altogether mediocre young men who suddenly recognized the fact that their manager had been born white, didn't spill egg on his vest and habitually washed behind the ears. They deemed him a gentleman and a scholar, went out of their earnest way to please him and lived happily ever after.

But the shortstop, who didn't realize there was a lot of kidding going around and insisted that bearing down was one of the things that was being done these days.

"I never saw anything like it," said Fletcher, referring to the boys' ambition, not the prevalent type of bearing down. "That is, outside of a college ball team. These fellows are simply working their heads off and the chatter during a workout sounds like the ballyhoo man on the midway at Coney Island."

Examples Cited
Take the case of second and third base positions. A young man Huber by name and gifted by nature, will play third. He is up with the Phils from Beaumont, and Fletcher says he will stay. Nothing personal behind this threat. Fletcher really likes the young man. However, he is much more encouraged of Kimmick, at second, who couldn't hit the size of his neck band with the Reds. Kimmick came to the Phils from the Vernon team.

"He's the sweetest-looking infielder I've seen in a long time," said Fletcher, speaking of Kimmick. "He seems to be able to do anything at second base and I'll venture to say his hitting has improved 50 per cent. He stands up there like Hornsby now."

Plenty Pitchers
Hal Yordy, another Waterbury product, enters the equation at this juncture. He hit .331 last year and may get right unpleasant about it at any moment. Hal is meeting the ball more than half way down here.

The Phils also have many pitchers, so-called. The best of the lot are Jimmy Ring, Wilbur Hubbell, Hal Carlson, Clarence Mitchell, Walter Betts and John Couch, veterans, and Danna Filington, back again from Beaumont; Oran O'Neal, from the same spot; Ray Pierce, from Topeka and Frank Uhlir, from Waterbury. Pierce, being a left-hander, may stick, since the Phils are a bit shy of this breed. There are other pitchers in the squad, but what of it?

"Butch" Henline and Jimmy Wilson will do the catching. Both are good, which makes them something of a novelty hereabouts.

"RUM ROW"

DOVER, England, March 16.—New York may have its well-known "Rum Row," but England has a phantom "Rum Row." Bobbing lights off the south coast of England on dark nights may or may not be the lights of smugglers' craft, but it seems to be a fact that a considerable amount of liquid refreshment is being brought into England, without the payment of duty.

ANCIENT TOMB

CANTERBURY, Eng., March 16.—An archaeological find unique in the history of English excavations has been made in the discovery of the tombs of the whole royal line of Ethelbert, Saxon kings who ruled England during the sixth century, by experts who have been probing the ruins of St. Augustine's Abbey in this city.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.
FORT WORTH, March 16.—(Enroute from California to Southern Training Camps)—The Texas League is knee deep in preparations for the struggle of 1925, and of all the clubs in the circuit perhaps none is going at the job more modestly, or more earnestly, than Fort Worth. Winner of two titles in the Texas League last season and victor as well in the Dixie series.

Perhaps the principal reason for the Fort Worth players' success lies in their modesty and their earnestness. Jake Atz, the Fort Worth manager and Paul LaGrave, the progressive young owner, never talk much about baseball. Action is their watchword. And it is a watchword that Dallas, Shreveport, Beaumont and the rest of the clubs in the league will do well to consider. The Fort Worth battery is being loaded for bear.

Last summer, when things were going well for the Fort Worth club and it looked as if they were headed for the pennant, the league held a meeting and decided to divide the season. The decision had no effect whatever on Fort Worth—save that it gave that club a chance to win two abbreviated "seasons."

After that Fort Worth mixed up in the Dixie series with the customary results and all this winter the fans of this part of the United States have been chuckling to themselves. And they are entitled to their chuckles, for Fort Worth is a game city and it has a game baseball club.

The club has been hit hard by losing some of its players, among them Kraft, who won the home run championship of the minors last season. Kraft has retired and is running an automobile business. But if the same players Kraft and the other players who have gone, they are not saying anything about it. They are just sitting tight and saving wood.

In a Fort Worth hotel lobby, the writer ran into Jim Middleton, one-time pitcher for the New York Giants, who probably would hold the record for successful finishes of "lost" games in the minor leagues, if there were such a record. He might have made a similar record in the majors had not lady luck been against him.

Middleton went to the Giants after a fine year in the minors. But about the first thing that happened to him was an attack of tonsillitis from which he did not fully recover all season. Disheartened he went back to his farm in Indiana. Later Chance took him to Portland, Ore., where he shone not only as a pitcher, but as a manager.

Middleton looks well and likes the sun, of which he will get a plenty down here. He is something of a mascot as well as a good pitcher. It is not suggested, however, that Jake Atz took him as a mascot. The only sort of mascot Atz recognizes is a base hit.

Waco has been added to the Texas League this season and old time easterners will hail that fact with pleasure, because there was a time when a major league team bucking up against Waco would have to play as hard for its scalp as it had to play in its own circuit. The teamwork of Waco was the biggest hit in Texas League and that team was winning pennants.

Knute Rockne Mourns Death of Walter Camp

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Mar. 16.—Commenting on the death of Walter Camp, Knute K. Rockne, famous Notre Dame football mentor, said:
"The message stuns me. His loss to the sporting world will be irreparable. He was not only a leading figure in football, but in all college sports and in physical education as well. Camp occupied a unique place in athletics, was a severe critic, but a staunch upholder of the benefits to be derived. He has perhaps done more for college football in inspiring interest in the game and supporting its spread all over the country than any other man may ever do. The point of wonderful personality, Camp built for himself a position that was entirely unique and he was beloved by all the sports world."

As Alex Goes, So Go Cubs

If Grover hits winning stride, Chicago boys may have chance to rejoice, but if Alexander the Great is not hitting on all four there will be wailing and moaning in the vicinity of the ball park where Killefer's crew hangs out when at home.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP BY FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Along the Great White Way is heard the report that Joe Benjamin has withdrawn from the lightweight tourney and that his prominence was due to Jack Kearns' interest in him.

The boy whom easterners are most interested in, that is to say of the west coast boys, is not Benjamin but a youngster named Ace Hudkins, the coast champion who won his right to the sectional title by beating Tommy Carter.

Hudkins, and not Benjamin, say the eastern wise guys, is the lad who should take Tommy O'Brien on April 30.

Hudkins is a Nebraska boy who is a veritable wildcat in action and has built up a large following on the Pacific coast.

Of course, there is Sammy Mandell to be reckoned with, but he has just the style to carry the Illinois scrapper along at a terrific pace.

Let it be overlooked there is another boy out on the coast who has beaten Benjamin and figures to have just as good a chance to shine as Hudkins. He is Bode Hecot.

Eddie Kane is authority for the statement that Tommy Gibbons is not looking for a bout with Tunney on the coast this spring, as was reported. Big money for Gibbons lies in this neck of the woods and Kane is as busy as a one-armed paperhanger conferring and getting everything set for some big announcements.

JAPS PAY MORE

TOKIO, March 16.—It costs 20 per cent more to live in Japan than it did before the earthquake, and prices are still tending to rise, according to a survey conducted by the Bank of Japan.

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News.

Hustling William Killefer, Cub manager, and his aides will leave no stone unturned on the paradise island of Catalina to mold a team that will give the other National league clubs a run for their money the coming campaign.

He and they will labor diligently to make a nearly finished shortstop out of "Spark Plug" Adams in the hope that his playing will make the fans forget Charles Heilacher.

All have hopes that the presence of Rabbit Maraville at second and Charley Grimm on first will give the team a much stronger infield. You'll recall that Maraville and Grimm, with Pitcher Cooper, were grabbed from the Pirates over the winter season in exchange for Grantham, Aldridge and Neuhaus.

The outfield seems well fortified with Griggs, Miller, Sten and Heathcote ready to fill the fields regularly.

The presence of the experienced and crafty southpaw, Cooper, is expected to strengthen what was a good pitching staff last season. Kaufman, Keen, Durley, Blane—all will be ready to do their best.

But when all is said and done, Brother Killefer is depending once more on one Grover Cleveland Alexander to make or break the Cubs' team.

For as Alexander goes, so goes the team. If this veteran pitcher has another good year in his system, beware the Cubs. If he falters, a victim of time or accidents that come easily to crumbling vets, the Cubs will have a hard job staying in the fight.

Three years ago Alex won but sixteen games. The Cubs finished in second division. Two years ago Alex the Great stepped out and won twenty-two games. The Cubs finished in first division. Fourth place, it is true, but they were in the thick of things.

Last year Alex won but twelve games. He lost his first game. Then he stepped in and won eight in a row. The Cubs thundered along at a clip that bid fair to carry them to the flag.

Early in June Alexander sustained a crippled wrist. The Cubs hit the skids and continued to

George Von Elm Holds Northern Golf Title

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—George von Elm of the Rancho club of Los Angeles today was holder of the northern California amateur golf championship by virtue of his victory here yesterday over Rudolph Wilhelm, Portland, Ore., star. slide for some time. It was the return of Alex that checked the slide.

The team finished fourth. Had Alexander gone at his early season pace he would have turned in something like twenty or twenty-one victories. And those eight or nine added games would have kept the Cubs in the fight.

Alexander is working under a one-year contract this year. There seems to me to be another indication of the cold-bloodedness of the baseball magnates in the action of the club in offering him such a contract over the winter.

Alex has reached the age where no one can tell what another season will bring. But he has been a big money-maker for the Cubs ever since he joined that outfit from Philadelphia with the exception of the first season, 1918, when he was released from the effects of his war service. In 1920 he rang up twenty-seven victories for the Cubs.

He adds color to the team. He is of value to the club as a coach of young pitchers.

Figured as a cold-blooded business proposition, he might be a poor risk for a two-year contract. But on the other hand might it not be just to show him some measure of appreciation for his loyalty and service?

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923

NEW YORK, March 16.—Reports heard in inter-collegiate circles that several members of the navy boxing team, which meets Yale Saturday night, were champions of their respective divisions in the enlisted force before they received appointments to the naval academy are not true.

None of the men on the Navy team ever boxed before coming under the instruction of Coach Webb at Annapolis, and the team in point of years is one of the youngest—as it is one of the best—that ever represented the academy.

The various members of the team, for instance, were two and three years younger than their Penn State rivals whom they defeated rather handily.

Not a single member of the team was ever an enlisted man, all being high and preparatory school products.

The American Polo association is going to try a nervy financial experiment this summer. They are going to import a British polo team, fit it out with horse cars and Pullmans and send it barnstorming throughout the country.

Earl Hopping, who has been playing a great deal of English polo in the last few years, will get the team together and it will arrive here early in July. Beginning at Philadelphia the Britishers will work westward, playing at Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati, Chicago, Denver and perhaps on to the west coast.

The team will meet local outfits and thus will be organized on a fifteen goal basis, it being decided that a higher goal team would be too formidable to give American fours that will be met a sporting chance to victory.

It is not all certain that this venture will prove profitable although the Polo association seems to think that it will.

This greatest of all games is, however, a class game and knowledge of it is very strictly confined to horsemen. There are lots of horsemen through the west, but it is the public, attracted by prospects of thrilling sport, that makes the turnstiles click to the tune of big money.

Unquestionably Philadelphia will pay well. Here is probably the best polo city in the country. That it is far better than New York is to be shown anytime when that crowds that go to Meadow Brook club on the grounds that it is in violation of Rule 5, Section 1, and the appendix thereto, of the official basketball rules, which requires five players to start a game.

San Fernando, assisted by Easton, left-fielder, defeated Zelzah, 12 to 6, yesterday. Easton hit three triples and a home run. Bravo also rapped out a homer for San Fernando.

The Buick Autos added another victory to their long unbroken string yesterday when they defeated the Hawthorne team, 4 to 3.

The Pasadena Merchants won the pennant offered by the Southern California Baseball Managers' association by taking two straight games from C. C. M. team, the second game being played yesterday at the tournament park and won by the Merchants, 6 to 2. A triple play in the first inning was a feature of the game.

Twenty hits and twenty-three runs was the work of the Whittier Giants yesterday while holding the Arizona Cubs scoreless.

"Rabbit" Maraville, shortstop with the Chicago Cubs, after playing with the Pittsburgh team last year, will be out of the game for three months. He broke a bone in his right ankle yesterday, sliding into third, in an exhibition game against the Los Angeles Angels.

MILKMEN TO PLAY TRUCKS TONIGHT

Calla Lily Team Has Chance To Tie For Top Place By Winning Game

Tonight's battle between the Huli Trucks and the Calla Lily basketball teams will determine whether or not the two teams shall share top honors in the Glendale Merchants' league until the schedule is ended and a playoff game is staged. Victory for the milkmen tonight will put the trucks in a position to tie the Truckmen, provided the milkmen also defeat the Legion tomorrow night.

Should the truckmen win tonight's contest, there is no way in which the Calla Lily team can keep the league leaders from finishing at the top of the column of standings. The truckmen have won seven games and lost one, while another game is disputed at the present time. The milkmen have won six games and lost two.

An important matter in the pennant race will be the decision of Coach N. C. Hayhurst, president of the league, on the game played Thursday night between the Huli Trucks and the Legion, when only four truckmen took the floor at the start of the game. The Calla Lily players, it is said, will protest against that game being listed in the official records of the league on the grounds that it is in violation of Rule 5, Section 1, and the appendix thereto, of the official basketball rules, which requires five players to start a game.

HUFFMAN-FUENTE MEET ON TUESDAY

Tony Will Make First Ring Appearance Since His Inning In Court

Tony Fuente and Eddie Huffman, heavyweights, who were matched for last week's bill at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena, will stage the main event tomorrow night. The bout is scheduled for ten rounds, the same route agreed upon for last week, when it was necessary to call it off on account of Fuente's illness. It will be the Mexican's first battle since he was vindicated in the Culver City fight daisio when Fred Fulton bit the dust after three imaginary blows.

Ernie Owens and Lou ROLLINGER will step six rounds in the semi-windup. Both are classy fighters and will provide plenty of thrills for the ringworms. Kid Mexico and Jack Ketchell are billed for the feature spot, with a four-round battle. Ad Codina and Dutch Crozier are booked for four fast rounds. The Lees will have everything their own way in the opening bout when Harry meets Jack.

All-California Special Train For Convention

Plans for the All-American All-Western special train to the Detroit convention of the National Association of Real Estate boards, leaving California at the morning of June 18 by way of Salt Lake City, Denver, Omaha, Kansas City, and Chicago or St. Louis, are well advanced, according to announcement by Vice-President St. George Holden of the California Real Estate association who is general chairman for the train from California.

From San Francisco, Mr. Holden writes suggesting that the train be made one grand all-western train, with stop-overs at large real estate boards, and that it carry the consolidated glee clubs of Oakland and San Francisco to sing of California and the west.

"Returning westward," Vice-President Holden suggested, "the delegates would visit cities enroute, study their development, particularly of manufacturing, and bring back to our western coast the beneficial results of a survey. Last year the Oakland Real Estate Board accomplished wonders for its home city, and

TARFON SPRINGS, Fla.,

March 16.—Coincident with the announcement today that Judge Landis, high commissioner of baseball, would visit the St. Louis Browns' training quarters here this week, came a message from President Ban Johnson canceling his visit, also scheduled for this week. Manager Sisler was today ironing out defects developing in the game with the Dodgers, mainly inability of his men to face left-hand hurlers.

SARASOTA, Fla., March 16.—With only eight more days of spring training before them, the New York Giants started the week of training in earnest today. On March 24 the Giants will meet the St. Louis Browns here and then McGraw will take his clan northward.

AVALON, March 16.—"Rabbit" Maraville will be lost to the Cubs for at least three months and the injury he received in yesterday's game in Los Angeles may cripple him permanently. The doctors were not exactly sure of how long he will be out of the line-up when the Cubs left Wilmington today.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 16.—Having won two games from Shreveport, Manager Eddie Collins had the White Sox out for a rehearsal today. Stiff practice will again be on the cards for the next two days in preparation for Wednesday's tilt with the Gassers.

STOCKTON, Cal., March 16.—Manager Rickey's St. Louis Cardinals are today featuring Holm, utility man, as the batting sensation of their week-end victories over Oakland. Holm walloped .335 for the series. The Cardinals meet Santa Clara tomorrow.

FLEET ASSEMBLY TO CAUSE TRAVEL

40,000 Gobs Aboard 125 Vessels To Gather At San Pedro Port

With 40,000 U. S. gobs aboard 125 naval fighting vessels in the harbor, the largest number ever assembled under the American flag, as a travel attraction the Pacific Electric railroad has completed extensive plans to meet the travel demand to San Pedro during the stay of the fleet.

Plans made contemplate the handling of the largest amount of continued travel ever transported on the company's lines, D. W. Pontius, vice president and general manager, announced.

Heavy Traffic
With the arrival of the first contingent this afternoon the regular half-hour schedule leaving the Sixth and Main street station will be interspersed with as many five-car trains as may be necessary to care for the demand during the fleet's stay. The regular two and three-car trains will be operated in five-car units during the heaviest hours of travel.

Several excursions from inland points have already been arranged and service between Long Beach and San Pedro will be materially increased during the stay of the fleet.

Scenes At Banquet For Visiting Aeronautical Experts

Two views of the Aviation banquet at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, Saturday night, when steps were taken to form an Aeronautical association embracing all of Southern California. At top a close-up of the speakers' table. From left to right, the picture shows A. L. Olgier, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; H. E. Barrett, attorney for the Commercial Aircraft association; Geo. B. Carr, first vice-president of Chamber of Commerce; Earl Ovington, veteran flyer; George J. Lyons, director of the Chamber of Commerce; Howard I. Wood, secretary of the chamber; Dr. T. C. Young, general chairman of the air meet and toastmaster at the dinner; D. H. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Lieutenant C. P. Kane, commander at Ross Field and one of the principal speakers;

HOLD BANQUET FOR VISITING AVIATORS

Formation of Aeronautical Association To Come From Big Gathering Here, Is Belief; Pioneers Tell of Progress

Southern California will have an aeronautical association that will stand for the establishment of landing fields in every city, mapping of all fields, charting of airways, proper air legislation and furtherance of flying along many other lines, as a result of the aerial banquet tendered by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce Saturday night.

At the banquet, attended by representatives of nearly every Chamber of Commerce in Southern California and a number of famous veteran flyers and aeronautical experts, the nucleus of such an organization was formed and a committee to perfect organization plans was appointed with Dr. T. C. Young, Glendale man, as chairman. Other members of the committee will be Earl Ovington, Santa Barbara; Lieut. C. P. Kane, Ross Field, Arcadia; A. L. Olgier, Santa Ana; A. E. Isham, Redlands.

Noted Flyers Present
Nearly 100 persons sat down to the dinner, served at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse at 7:30 o'clock. At the head table were Earl Ovington, veteran civilian flyer and the first United States mail pilot; Professor A. A. Merrill, who blew the top off aeronautical tranquility by declaring the world flight was a big piece of nonsense; A. E. Olgier, the man who framed the first air legislation in the United States; Lieut. C. P. Kane, commander of Ross and March Fields, representing the United States army; E. H. Barrett, attorney for the Southern California Commercial Aircraft association and a number of representative leaders of civic life in Glendale.

At the three other tables around which the guests were assembled, sat a score of well-known pilots, secretaries of several dozen Chambers of Commerce and representatives of a number of other cities, officials of Glendale and many others. All joined in the movement to form the association, one in which all interests, army, navy, civilian and commercial, will be recognized and receive proper representation, the first of its kind in the world.

Dawn of Progress
With eyes filled with tears, Earl Ovington opened the speaking program with the statement: "I am filled with joy. For fifteen years I have waited with others who blazoned the trail in the are doing much to advance aviation, he said.

World Flight
Lieut. Kane next spoke in behalf of the United States army and Col. Frank Lahm, air chief of the Ninth corps area, whom he said heartily backs the movement set on foot in this city. Lieut. Kane showed moving pictures of the world flight, giving a brief lecture with the pictures. Lieut. Kane announced that arrangements would be made to bring Col. Lahm to Southern California for a conference with Dr. Young within the next ten days.

Professor Merrill failed to inject any more fireworks into the Glendale air meet in his address. Though it was expected he might continue his attack on some of the recent air fetes which he recently termed "nonsensical," he confined himself to a technical explanation of his achievements with motorless gliders, showing motion pictures of his creations taken at Ross and Clover Fields.

Can Take Lead
A. L. Olgier, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, said that matters of transportation are now looking to the air and that Southern California can take the lead in airplane development.

He told of his work in connection with the framing of the first aeronautical legislation in the state of Kansas in 1920. Attorney Barrett urged the passage of Senate bill 175 in a short address as a good bill and for the best interest of aviation. He denounced Assembly bill 197 as a measure that would set aviation back ten years and urged that it not receive support.

Others who appeared on the banquet program were Mayor Spencer Robinson, who sang several selections accompanied by Mrs. Robinson; President D. H. Smith, of the Chamber of Commerce; Ina Mitchell Butler in vocal selections and Bernice Brainard in piano numbers.

Many Visitors
All those who attended the banquet were introduced at the close of the meeting by Dr. Young, who presided as toastmaster. They were: Lieut. C. P. Kane, Arcadia; J. R. Hunt, secretary Chamber of Commerce, Brea; R. G. Malone, A. E. Du Fer, J. W. Jennings and J. W. Charleville, Chamber of Commerce, Burbank; C. H. Babb, president Los Angeles Park commission; M. H. Tensing, J. E. Richardson and Van M. Griffith, Hollywood; E. W. Porter, Chamber of Commerce, secretary, Inglewood; G. D. Lane, technician; Reginald Balner, E. W. Gilliland, Union Pacific; Dr. E. R. Lewis, air service officer; E. H. Barrett, attorney, C. J. Warren, flyer, and Burdette H. Fuller, owner of Burdette airport, all of Los Angeles; H. A. McElroy and C. K. Berger, Chamber of Commerce, Montebello; B. W. Spencer, Chamber of Commerce secretary, Ontario; Prof. A. A. Merrill, Pasadena; L. P. Stewart, president of the realty board, chair-

Represent Glendale
Those who represented Glendale were: W. L. Truitt, J. F. Springer, O. M. Newby, A. J. Van Wic, Spencer Robinson, K. N. Edwards, Chase Story, O. W. Timm, G. G. Ludwig, W. B. Kinney, S. C. Packer, P. ## Thieves Make Haul Of Sunday School Wheels

Thieves made a haul of three bicycles Sunday morning, from the corner of Wilson avenue and Louise street, while their youthful owners were attending the Baptist Sunday school. One wheel belonged to William Gray of 533 North Isabel street, another was the property of Mrs. M. O. Lane's son, while H. P. Stuart reported to the police that a wheel belonging to his brother was stolen from that address.

Claude Quinn, Wesley Quinn and James Hollowed, aged 12 to 14, all of Los Angeles, were arrested at 3 o'clock this morning, in northwest Glendale, and are being held at police headquarters as "runaways." Their parents have been notified.

The Glendale police are on the lookout for a greyish roadster, license 152-701, that failed to stop on York boulevard at Aldama street, Sunday morning, after running down and killing a pedestrian.

GLENDALE SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL

Guests at Glendale Sanitarium are to be entertained at 7 o'clock tonight with a song recital by Marco Lanieri, tenor, of Los Angeles, assisted by Miss Ethelyn Walker, pianist, also of Los Angeles. Another musical treat is in store for the guests tomorrow night, when the sanitarium orchestra, assisted by several soloists, will give a program at 7:15 o'clock in the sanitarium chapel. Proceeds from the concert will be used for paying for a bass viol for the orchestra. The orchestra is proving a popular entertainment feature at the sanitarium. Irving Steiner, who arranges the programs, is greatly gratified over his success in securing talented artists, and in the compliments received from guests on programs given. At present there are over 200 guests and patients at the sanitarium.

Local Prize Dogs Get Honors at Long Beach

Mrs. F. S. Card of La Crescenta and Mrs. A. A. Perry of 815 South Central avenue had entries Friday and Saturday in the kennel show at Long Beach, winning high honors. Monnie Fay, collie dog, entered by Mrs. Card, won three blue ribbons, reserve winner and prize for best female collie in show. Mrs. Perry's Pekingese took blue ribbons in all classes.

Glendale Woman Seeks Pet Yellow Cat Lost

Mrs. G. R. Gorton of 407 West Gilbert street, is anxious to locate her yellow short haired cat which was lost at the corner of Elm avenue and Kenneth road one night last week. Mrs. Gorton states that the cat answers to the name of "Butterball" and that they are offering a reward for its recovery.

ELECT OFFICERS OF OMAR SHRINE

Sarah Frances Leland Is Chosen Worthy High Priestess Saturday

Officers of Omar Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem, were elected at the meeting Saturday night at Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard. Sarah Frances Leland was chosen worthy high priestess and Raymond A. Luring, watchman of shepherds. Other officers elected are: Libbie R. Cutting, noble prophetess; Bernice Fish, worthy scribe; Leora Foor, worthy treasurer; Lavina Jurgenson, worthy chaplain; Maude A. Evans, worthy shepherdess; Maude A. Smith, worthy guide. These elective officers with the appointive officers to be named will be installed at impressive ceremonies Saturday night, April 11, at the temple.

Mrs. Warren Roberts, retiring worthy high priestess, presided at the meeting Saturday night. She announced that Saturday night, March 28, the Shrine will celebrate its birthday. There will be a meeting at 7:30 o'clock, followed by a social affair. Clyette Hewitt is general chairman.

Sunday, members of the Shrine, their families and other Masonic friends enjoyed an outing at the Temple Country club, near San Dimas. There were sixty-three in the party. Twelve members from Messiah Shrine, Hermosa Beach, were present. A five-course dinner was served at 1 o'clock. During the afternoon the host and hostess at the club entertained the guests and showed them over the club grounds. W. W. Cannady, king of Omar Shrine, presented a box of oranges, to be given as prizes in the contests held.

Mrs. C. A. Brandstater Returns Prom Ohio

Mrs. C. A. Brandstater, 401 West Wilson avenue, has returned from Clyde, Ohio, where she was called by the serious illness and death of her mother, Mrs. C. N. Kessler. Accompanying Mrs. Brandstater home was her sister, Mrs. Ella S. Welter, who will visit here two or three weeks.

the fuselage remain unhurt. Gill and his passenger were never in any danger to themselves, although their plane was badly wrecked."

Expresses Thanks
President D. H. Smith of the Chamber of Commerce also expressed his satisfaction at the success of the first Glendale Air Rodeo. "The Chamber of Commerce has put over a great thing to my mind both for aviation and for Glendale. I want to extend my hearty thanks to the flyers who participated, particularly mentioning the navy and army reserves under Lieut. B. M. Spencer. Dr. Young deserves a world of credit, for he not only conceived the idea of the meet, but carried it to a successful conclusion."

It was estimated that more than 30,000 persons in all saw the meet during Saturday and Sunday. More than 100 aviators participated in the events, while chambers of commerce of approximately forty cities and towns of Southern California were represented, either at the meet or at the aerial banquet held at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse Saturday night.

P-T-A.

High School

Dr. Irene J. Myers, dean of women at Occidental College, and member of Glendale College Women's club, is to speak Wednesday afternoon at the meeting of the high school P-T. A. at Harvard High school. Her subject will be "College Courses and Their Requirements." In addition to Dean Myers' talk there will be a program by pupils of Harvard High school in charge of Mrs.
Perry Rogers. Mrs. W. R.
Wichert, P-T. A. president, announces that tea will be served from 2 to 2:30 o'clock in the cafeteria. Following this there will be a short business session and the program in the auditorium. Members of the executive board met this afternoon.

Cerritos

An interesting program has been arranged for the meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock of the Cerritos Parent-Teacher association at the school.
Mrs. A. L. Kent, president, will direct the meeting. Talks will be given by Miss Edna Heacock, Mrs. Jennings and Mrs. Ann Clark. Mrs. Clark is school nurse and will talk on her work; Mrs.
Jennings, who is teacher of the opportunity room at the school, will speak on her work, and Miss Heacock will speak on "Child Hygiene." Miss Sinclair will give vocal selections and musical numbers will be given by the third grade. The third grade mothers will be hostesses for the afternoon.

Sao Paulo, Brazil, plans the installation of a powerful broadcasting station.

AUTO EXHIBIT ACCLAIMED SUCCESS

All Expectations Surpassed
At First Annual Show
Held In Glendale

All expectations were exceeded by the big success of the automobile show, which closed Saturday night with a box office record of over 25,000 attendants in the eight days it had held forth at the northwest corner of Brand boulevard and Magnolia avenue, offering a display of 100 cars by twenty members of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association, and, in addition, exhibits of numerous accessory firms, for a total valuation of $200,000.

Today the cars are back in the showrooms along "Automobile Row" and the huge tent, which was over 300 feet long, is down.
Saturday, March 21, Manager
Harry LaBrecque will open in Santa Ana for an eight-day automobile show, under the auspices of the motor car dealers of that city.

"So overwhelming was the support given to the show by the people of this section," said President Lyman P. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association, "that there is not the slightest doubt we will make it an annual affair. We are more than gratified by the interest shown, not only by the people of Glendale, but of Burbank, Eagle Rock, Montrose and the whole San Fernando valley.

Business Getter
"This show has been a great stimulus to business generally, and in particular to the automobile business. Not one of the score of dealers exhibiting cars can be found who did not get many prospects for sales, and a number of cars were sold directly off the floor. For the first time, the public realized that the automobile business in Glendale is organized on a large scale and offers everything in the way of cars and service that can be obtained elsewhere."

P. A. Kelley, chairman of the show committee, declared that fully 10 per cent of the 25,000 people who visited the show are prospects for cars, and will buy these cars in Glendale, as the result of the eye-opener they received.

"Everyone who entered the tent saw at once that Glendale is in a position to supply every motoring need, from automobiles to spark plugs," said Mr. Kelley.
"I predict that the next year we will see a great wave of prosperity sweep through our business, as the hundreds of people who have promised to buy their next cars in Glendale come to the members of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association with their business."

Live Promoters
"This business, which will be a direct result of the show, will benefit the entire city, in increased general prosperity and higher payrolls. The automobile industry employs many more people in Glendale than any other one line. Anything that will stimulate the leading industry of a city is bound to stimulate the city in general."

Those directly responsible for the success of the first annual automobile show of the Glendale
Motor Car Dealers' association are: P. A. Kelley, chairman of the show committee and his two co-workers, W. A. Tanner and Charles McDaniel. The officers and directors of the association, who worked untiringly for the success of the show, are:
Lyman P. Clark, president;
Don H. Packer, vice-president;
M. Townman, secretary and treasurer; C. H. Hunter, R. E.
Corrigan, Tom Smith, W. A. Tanner, P. A. Kelley.

Mention should be made of Millie Marlowe and her troupe of girls, whose series of spirited revues, different each night, added materially in making the show a success.

First Congregational Prayer Meet Planned

M. L. Hoblit will lead the prayer meeting Wednesday night at First Congregational church. The subject will be "The Saviour and His Disciples."

Keen Film

Scene from "Oh, Doctor!" now showing at the Glendale theatre. The picture is declared to be unusually good.
Reginald Denny is the star.

Reginald Denny, who gained popularity through his fast-moving films, "Sporting Youth," "The Reckless Age" and "The Abysmal Brute," goes even farther toward fame in his latest Universal-Jewel production, "Oh, Doctor!" now showing at the Glendale theatre. The story, which was written by Harry Leon Wilson, ran serially through The Saturday Evening Post. Harry Pollard directed.

"Oh, Doctor!" is a combination of comedy, humor, satire and romance, telling the story of a hypochondriac who finally, because of love for his beautiful nurse, becomes transformed into a young man of such decided action that the hazards he engages in become a source of consternation to those who have his interests at heart.

Denny takes the part of the young hypochondriac, Rufus Billups, Jr., who worries about the state of his health to the exclusion of every other interest in life.

The nurse is played by Mary Astor, and others who are in the cast are Otis Harlan, William Mong, Tom Ricketts, Lucille Ward, Mike Donlin, Clarence Geldert, Brancha Payson, George Kuwa, Marthe Mattox and Helen Lynch.

SINGLE EARRINGS MARK NEW STYLE

Double Adornment For Noise
Detectors of Milady Ancient History

By AILEEN LAMONT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
NEW YORK, March 16.—It is getting so that a demand for a pair of earrings is almost as unexpected as a pair of shoes. One is enough, according to the present fashion.
This style has grown out of the fact that one ear is now allowed to peep slyly from concealment.
It is adorned with a long dangling earring, dropping almost to the shoulder. The coiffure is carefully arranged to cover the other ear and the hat is pulled down over it for further concealment.

The new coiffure of Oxford, who as Margot Asquith has set countless people both in England and America by the ears, is one of the few women in London today who never wears earrings. In fact, all jewelry is taboo with her.
This is remarkable for, although she has always been known to hate sham, she has enough real gems to cover a Burmese idol.

Flounces Plus Pleats
The flounce and the pleat have been the outstanding feature of the spring styles. Why not both?
That is the question the French designers have asked and they answered it by designing a frock of black crepe, the bodice of which is trimmed with silver lame. The skirt is composed of two deep flounces of crepe, accordionpleated. Similar pleated flounces appear at shoulder, elbow and wrist.

Wear a scarf and you can't go wrong, no matter where you wear it. The latest position for these costume adjuncts is not down from the shoulders but up from the hem. The loop of the scarf is caught at the hem by a cluster of artificial flowers and the ends draped upward to tie at the opposite hip in a big bow.

A charming hat just imported here carries out the prevailing note of a combination of materials. The small round high crowned shape is of Bengal braid with a short visor of black satin.
It is trimmed with a wide satin ribbon, plain in front but decorated with a close row of pink satin roses around the back. A scarf of satin about two inches wide is worn with it. On the ends of this the row of roses is duplicated.

Junior Club to Hold Church Party Tonight

The Junior High school department of the Central Christian church will hold a party tonight at the church bungalow. Mrs. C.
A. Cole, superintendent of the department will be in charge.

Of the 299,927 civil servants
now employed by the British government, 141,730 are ex-service men.

NEW THEATRE PLANNED BY PLAYERS

Structure to Cost $200,000
To House Dobinson
Dramatic Plays

A theatre for the spoken drama, to cost in the neighborhood of $200,000, was announced at Glendale Playhouse Saturday night by Michael J. Phillips, personal representative for Mrs. Dobinson. The announcement came during a between-the-acts speech during the performance of "Barnum Was Right" by the Dobinson Players. William S. Sparr, it was stated by the speaker, is the man behind the project, and he has associated with him other capitalists who are ready to move as soon as the plans are warranted.

"When the new theatre will be started depends entirely upon Glendale," said Mr. Phillips. "If the patronage now being accorded the Dobinson Players continues to increase as it has increased the past few days, the inference will be that Glendale is ready for a playhouse. If the interest in the splendid performances which the company is giving lags, then the new theatre recedes into the distance."

Hope for Glendale
"If, indeed, it does not go elsewhere. The backers of the project believe that the whole section surrounding Los Angeles will continue to grow as a result of the natural advantages of oil and climate. Some districts will grow faster than others and show themselves more thoroughly awake to their opportunities. If Hollywood or Pasadena or some other town in the San Fernando valley shows itself a better amusement prospect than Glendale, then inevitably that other town or those other towns will be entitled to very serious consideration."

But I hope and believe that Glendale is ready for the new theatre and that it will be built here during the coming summer.

SHADE TREES ARE URGED BY ARTIST

Landscape Gardener Tells Value of Palm Variety To Any Community

"Editor, The Evening News:—
It is pleasing to see women taking the lead in the saving of our trees and the beautifying of our substantial community. According to Luther Burbank, our environments have a great deal to do with our physical welfare as well, as especially so in the molding of character—hence the school grounds ought to have our special attention."

"Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree."

"In taking a bird's eye view of the whole landscape from the top of our valuable hills one is impressed with the fact that there has not been a proper co-operation among the residents along a street in the planting of the same kind of trees in the parkways, although it must be admitted that the palms certainly show up beautifully along several streets."

Palms Suggested
"As Central avenue evidently will be one of the main streets for people to 'take to the hills', would it not be advisable to plant Cocos Plumosa palms in the park-ways all along Central avenue?"

"These palms, with their beautifully bending branches, seem to wave a welcome to the wayfarer as he moves along toward the hills, giving him inspiration as well as recreation while he is on his way. And as they grow up they fit so finely into the setting of the whole landscape."

NIEL KLOGAARD,
"Landscape Gardener,
"1305 North Central."

Rev. Edmonds Talks on John Brown Meetings

"After the John Brown meetings—what?" was the basis for a talk given by Rev. W. E. Edmonds to the young people of the senior intermediate C. E. society of the Presbyterian church at the regular weekly meeting held at 6 o'clock last night. Rev. Edmonds stressed these three points: Bible study, for as we read from it we shall grow in spirit and knowledge of the word, prayer—not artificial, but really consecrated prayer, loyalty, to society and church.

The meeting was conducted by the prayer meeting department, Miss Alice Huston in charge. The topic for night service was, "John Brown Echoes." "The Riches of Love" was sung by the Ambassador quartet of the society, composed of Spencer Jewell, Harold Parker, Fred Fallis and Edward Mishler. The executive committee will meet Tuesday, at 8 p. m. at the church, and the monthly business meeting will be held Saturday night at Mildred Sooy's residence, 658 West California.

Java is to have a 30,000 horsepower hydro electric plant which will furnish power to many industries and cities.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Advances of the medical science in the determination of those things which affect life and growth were revealed to members of the California Legislature in addresses delivered at a hearing given two dairymen's bills.

Dr. William Hassler of the San Francisco health department told how since 1917 the vitamins and other accessory food values had become paramount to calories in the eyes of the adventurers of the realm of research.

Fresh meat, milk, butter, cheese, green leafy vegetables, potatoes, fruits and natural fats came in for their share of praise.
Particularly is whole milk and whole wheat bread valuable while animal fat is absolutely essential.
It cannot be replaced by skim milk, or oleaginous fats, although they are good for particular purposes such as cooking, candy manufacture and pastry.

Also, high praise was given uncooked foods, and by that one must exclude sterilized, pasteurized and boiled edibles, although they are also good in instances.
Faddists have weaned the public from many of the customs of centuries standing. They have us eating nuts on the half shell, stew-ing oysters, boiling water, cooking the life out of vegetables and avoiding the meat of the cow. No two schools of correct eating agree, and what was accepted ten or fifteen years ago as a discovery has been disproved by new discoveries in the last seven years, the doctor indicated.

This writer is not an authority.
But the simple life with temperance in everything no doubt is more ideal than to follow a fad to an early grave. Also, we should be careful in accepting new theories as conclusive, for they are not always so.

At another legislative hearing on Chinese herbs, which the writer had the pleasure of listening in upon, it was learned that European and American doctors were extending their research work to the orient to learn the potency of herbal remedies unknown to the pharmacopoeia.

The world was astounded by a cure of leprosy coming from a tree; the public seldom realizes that quinine also comes from a tree; that cascara is a root, as is ginseng and many other homely remedies.

Eventually the Chinese are going to unlock the secrecy which surrounds their herb business.
American born sons of these oriental compounds of nature's remedies are graduating from our medical colleges. One of these stated before the assembly medical and dental committee:

"The physiological effects of our Chinese herbs are known."
What a wonderful field for research!

RADIO CHIEFTAIN TO CLEAR MIX-UP

New York Problem Becomes
So Troublesome Boss
Seeks Solution

By ROBERT MACK
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
WASHINGTON, March 16.—
Judge Stephen B. Davis, solicitor of the department of commerce and chief arbitrator of the radio world, plans to give the broadcasting media in New York City his personal attention. He expects to go to New York within a few days to confer with the owners of all the metropolitan broadcasting stations and the pro-motors of several of the proposed new plants.

The New York situation admittedly is the most troublesome in the country. Beginning in a small way in Newark, radio has advanced into the heart of Manhattan and reared its towers in a dozen or more spots on and near Broadway. In addition to the problem of heading off more newcomers, the government wants to find some way in which the new McAlpin hotel station, WJZ, can be fitted into the class B scheme of transmission. For the time being, WJZ is doing its best to keep on the air and at the same time out of the way of its better established rivals.

Time-Splitting
There is little possibility that any further time-splitting agreements can be arranged among the New York stations. WJZ and WEAF are fixtures on exclusive wave lengths. WJY already splits time with WOR at Newark; WGBS shares its hours with WAHG, at Richmond Hills, and WBBJ and WFBH divide up on the low wave bands. WNYC, on 526 meters, and WHN, on 360 meters, are at present on individual wave lengths and keeping on the air throughout most of the day. Any suggestion that either of them give away part of its time probably would be very distasteful.

Following his conference with the New York stations, it is quite probable that Judge Davis will make a similar visit later in the month of April. The air radio situation, although not quite as bothersome as that in New York, is a problem in view of the plans made for a new class B station to be operated by the Wrigley interests.

Conditions on the Pacific coast, although they may require personal attention later on in the year, have worked out fairly satisfactorily under the new allocation plan.
